FORTIETH CONGRESS.

The Impeachment Court---Gen. Sherman's Examination Resumed--His Opinions as to the Propriety of the Removal of Stanton Objected to and Ruled Out--He is Allowed to Testify as to What Was Said by the President.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 13, 1868.

SENATE.

The reading of the journal was dispensed with.

The CHIEF JUSTICE stated the question before the Court to be on the motion allowing as many Managers and counsel to participate in the final debate as may wish to do so.

Senator SUMNER offered an amendment that no further postponement should be caused thereby. Accepted.

Several amendments relative to the numbers who should close, and length of time to be occupied by each, were made.

Mr. STANBERY said the counsel for the defense were strongly opposed to the limitation of the time of the final argument.

Mr. BUTLER intimated that he would not take advantage of a chance to speak.

Mr. EVARTS said the result of the proposition as it now stood would give six Managers against four counsel on the closing argument.

Senator DRAKE raised the point of order that the Senate, sitting as a Court, could not take such action.

The point was over ruled, and a vote taken, resulting thirty-eight to ten, so the rule remains unchanged.

EXAMINATION OF GEN. SHERMAN RESUMED.

Mr. STANBERY asked: After the restoration of Stanton did you form an opinion as to the desirability, or as to the good of the service, of the office of Secretary of War being filled by another than Stanton? If so, did you express your opinion to the President?

Objection made and argued by Mr. BINGHAM.

Mr. STANBERY replied that the question of intent was of vital importance. They did not offer this testimony as an abstract opinion, but as the judgment formed and expressed by the second officer in the service, for its good. He referred to the relations existing between the President and Stanton, and claimed it was competent to prove that distinguished Generals like Grant and Sherman believed a change should be made in the interest of the Government. He appealed earnestly to the Senate, for the sake of justice, to admit the evidence.

Mr. BUTLER rejoined that by introducing irrelevant testimony the law would be broken to defend a breaking of the law. He said there would be no limit to the enquiries which would be put to witnesses. The Managers could ask him if he had any quarrel with Stanton, and if that influenced his opinion, so that the field would be boundless. It seemed to be assumed by the other side that evil intent must be proved by something the President had said, whereas it was proved by his act in breaking the act. It was also immaterial whether Stanton was a fit man or not to be retained in office. Evil could not be done that good might come. Referring to the remarks of Mr. Stanbery that Stanton did not take part in the Cabinet council, he said there was no such thing contemplated by the Constitution. Members of the Cabinet were to be called on for advice respecting affairs of their own departments. The President must show that he never called on Mr. Stanton for a written opinion, or that he had given him an order which he had disobeyed.

Senator CONKLING enquired if the counsel proposed to prove that Gen. Sherman had advised the President to procure the change in any particular way?

Mr. STANBERY replied in the negative. Witness had only expressed an opinion as to the desirability of some change.

Mr. EVARTS said it was not merely a question of having committed a violation of law, which was punishable in another Court by so small a penalty as six cents fine or a few days' imprisonment, but it was a question of the commission of an impeachable offense, punishable by deposition from the highest office, on which question all evidence in relation to motives was of the most vital importance.

Mr. BINGHAM held that the rules of evidence were the same on the trial of a beggar or a President.

Mr. EVARTS interrupted to say he had not in his remarks supposed the President to be on trial for a petty offense, and repelled the insinuation that he would mete out justice according to rank.

Mr. BINGHAM continued in an earnest appeal against the admission of the testimony, and at the conclusion the yeas and nays were taken—fifteen to thirty-five.

So the question was not admitted.

Senator JOHNSON offered a question, whether before the removal of Mr. Stanton the witness had advised the President that he should be removed and replaced?

The CHIEF JUSTICE said the Court must decide whether the question should be put, and the Senate decided in the negative—vote eighteen to thirty-two.

Mr. STANBERY then said he had no more questions to ask Gen. Sherman.

The Managers declined to cross-examine and the Court took a recess at 2:10.

On re-assembling, R. J. Meigs, Clerk of the District Supreme Court, testified that he affixed the seal to a warrant for the arrest of Gen. Thomas about two o'clock on the morning of February 22d. Mr. Pile, of Missouri, brought it to him at his house.

In answer to Mr. BUTLER, he said he had been called on at such hours before in cases of pressing necessity.

Mr. STANBERY then offered to put in evidence the warrant, and the affidavit of Mr. Stanton on which it was issued.

Mr. BUTLER objected to the proposition.

Mr. EVARTS said they related to the same subject on which the Managers had introduced testimony, and that the President's counsel intended to show that he took advantage of the proceedings commenced by Mr. Stanton as the speediest method of bringing the question before the Court.

Mr. BUTLER argued that the effect of introducing these papers would be to open up new regions of controversy irrelevant to the case.

Mr. STANBERY referred to the fact that the declarations of General Thomas had been admitted as declarations of the President to prove his design in employing force, and went on to recite the circumstances attending the discharge of Thomas, which he said they would show was in order to prevent the President from testing the question. The evidence would also show that Thomas was not regarded as a great criminal by those who procured his arrest.

Mr. BUTLER rejoined, when

The CHIEF JUSTICE ruled that the warrant and affidavit were admissible, and, on taking the yeas and nays, his ruling was sustained by thirty-four to seventeen.

Mr. EVARTS read the document.

Mr. STANBERY resumed the examination: The warrant was issued in Chambers; had not the docket book with him.

Senator JOHNSTON then offered to put a question to General Sherman: When the President tendered you the office of Secretary of War ad interim, January 27th and 30th, 1868, did he, at the time of making such tender, state what his purpose in so doing was?

The question was objected to and submitted to the Senate. The vote was yeas 26, nays 22.

So the question was put and answered, "yes."

Mr. JOHNSON then offered an additional question: Will you state what he said his purpose was?

Objected to, when the CHIEF JUSTICE ruled the question admissable, as it tended to show the import of the President's action, and, in expressing his opinions, remarked that this Court was not bound by the same restrictive rules in admitting evidence as some of a different character.

The yeas and nays resulted 26 to 25.

So the question was admitted.

The question having been put to witness General Sherman replied: The conversations were long and covered a great deal of ground, but I will endeavor to be as precise on the point as possible. The President stated to me that the relations which had grown up or between the Secretary of War, Mr. Stanton, and himself—

Mr. BUTLER—I must again interpose an objection. The question is for the witness simply to state what the President said his purpose was, and not to introduce his whole conversation. I pray the point may be submitted to the Senate whether we will have the whole of the long conversation or whether we shall have nothing but the purpose expressed by the President.

Witness—I intended to be very precise in my statement of the conversation, but it appears to me necessary to state what I began to state, that the President told me the relations between himself and Stanton, and between Stanton and other members of the Cabinet, were such that he could not execute the office he filled, as President of the United States, without making provisions for an ad interim filling of the office of Secretary of War, and that he had a right under the law, and that his purpose was to have the office administered in the interests of the army and of the country, and he offered me that. His purpose was not to bring the matter into the Courts directly, but for the purpose of having the office administered properly in the interests of the army and of the whole country. [Sensation in Court.] I asked him why lawyers could not make a case. I did not wish to be brought as an officer of the army into the controversy.

Senator CONKLING—Please repeat that last answer, General.

Witness—I asked him why lawyers could not make a case and not bring me, an officer, into the controversy. His answer was, it was found impossible for that, a case could not be made up; but, said he: "If we could bring the case into the Courts, it would not stand for an hour."

Mr. STANBERY—Have you answered as to both occasions?

Witness—The conversation was very long and covered a good deal of ground.

Mr. BUTLER—I object to this examination being renewed by counsel for the President. Whatever may be the pretense under which it is renewed, I hold that with due order this cannot be allowed. See how it is attempted. Counsel had dismissed witness. He was gone after and brought back at the request of one of the Judges.

Mr. STANBERY—I must interrupt the learned gentleman, to say we did not dismiss the witness. On the contrary, both sides asked to retain him, the learned Manager, Mr. Butler, saying he wanted to give him a private examination. [Laughter.]

Mr. BUTLER—I must deny that I want a private examination. I say the witness was dismissed from the stand and called back by one of the Court. That is not, in any Court I have practiced, allowed—after a question is put by a Judge for counsel on either side to resume the examination of the witness, after having dismissed him.

Senator JOHNSON asked for the reading of questions as proposed by himself, and they were read by the Clerk.

The CHIEF JUSTICE—Nothing is more usual in Courts of justice than to recall witnesses for further examination, especially at the instance of any member of the Court. It is frequently done at the instance of counsel. It is, however, one of those questions within the discretion of the Court. If the Senate desire, I will put the question whether the witness shall be further examined.

Mr. EVARTS—May we be heard on the subject?

CHIEF-JUSTICE—Certainly.

Mr. EVARTS—The question, Mr. Chief-Justice and Senators, whether a witness may be re-called is always a question within the discretion of the Court, and is allowed, unless on suspicion of bad faith or unless there be special circumstances where collusion is suspected. Courts frequently lay down a rule that neither party shall call a witness who has been once dismissed from the stand, and of course we shall obey whatever rule the Senate may adopt in this case; but we are not aware anything has occurred showing the necessity for the adoption of such a rule.

Mr. BUTLER—When the witness was on the stand on Saturday this question was asked, "At that interview what conversation took place between the President and you in relation to the removal of Mr. Stanton?" The question was objected to, and after argument the Senate solemnly decided it should not be put. That was exactly the same question as this. Then other proceedings were had, and after considerable delay, the counsel for the President asked leave to recall this witness this morning. Senate gave that permission. This morning they recalled the witness and put to him such questions as they pleased. Then the witness was sent away. Then one of the Judges decided to put a question, to satisfy his own mind. Of course, he was not acting as counsel for the President, that cannot be supposed.

Senator JOHNSON, rising—What does the honorable Manager mean?

Mr. BUTLER—I mean precisely what I say, that it cannot be supposed that the Senator was acting for the President.

Senator JOHNSON—Mr. Chief Justice, if the honorable Manager means to impute that in anything I have done in this trial I have been acting as counsel, or in the spirit of counsel, he does not know the man of whom he speaks. I am here to discharge a duty, and that duty I propose to discharge. I know the law as well as he does.

Mr. BUTLER—I again repeat, so that my language may not be misunderstood, that it cannot be supposed he was acting as counsel for the President. Having put the question to satisfy his mind upon something he wanted to know, how can it be that it opens the case so as to allow the President's counsel to go on to a new examination? How do we know that he is not acting as counsel for the President and that there is not some understanding between them, which I do not charge? How can the President's counsel know what satisfies the Senator's mind? He recalls a witness for the purpose of satisfying his own mind. I argued that it is common to re-call witnesses for something overlooked or forgotten, but I never have known that where a member of the Court wants to satisfy himself by putting some question, that opens up the case to counsel on the other side to put other questions. The Court is allowed to put questions because a Judge may want to satisfy his mind on a particular point, but having satisfied himself on that point there is an end of the matter, and it does not open the case. I trust I have answered the honorable Senator from Maryland, that I make no imputation on him, but I am putting it right the other way.

Senator JOHNSON—I am satisfied. Mr. Chief Justice, I rise to say I did not know the counsel proposed to ask any question of the witness, and I agree with the honorable Managers that they have no right to do any such thing. [Sensation in Court.]

Mr. BINGHAM—I desire, on behalf of the Managers, to say there shall be no possible misunderstanding, to disclaim, once for all, that there was no intent by my associate, who has just taken his seat, or any intent by the Managers at any time, or in any way, to question the right and entire propriety of Senators calling on any witness and putting any question which they may see fit. We impute no improper motives to any Senator in doing so, but recognize his perfect right to do so and with propriety.

Mr. EVARTS—A moment's consideration, I think, will satisfy the Senate and Chief Justice that the question is not seriously as to the right to recall a witness, but as to whether the witness being recalled to answer a question of one of the Judges, the counsel is obliged to leave that part of the evidence. Evidence might be brought out which as it stood naked might be made prejudicial to one side or the other, and certainly it would be competent under ordinary rules of examination that counsel should be permitted to place the matter before the Court.

Mr. STANBERY—The honorable Senator from Maryland having put his question to witness, a new door has been opened, closed up on us before; new evidence has been gone into, which was a concealed book to us, and about which we could neither examine nor cross-examine. It was closed by a decision of the Court on Saturday, but it is now opened to us by the question of the Senator. Now is it possible we must take an answer for better or worse to a question we did not put. If in that answer matter had been condemnatory to the President, if the answer had been that the President told the witness expressly he intended to violate the law, that he was acting in bad faith, that he meant to use force, are we to be told, because the fact was brought out by a Senator and not by ourselves, that we cannot put a question to elicit the whole truth? This is no testimony of ours. Suppose it had been brought out by a Senator. Is the Secretary of War sacred against the pursuit of truth and the sacred right of examination? Does the doctrine of estoppel come in here, that whenever a question is answered we must take the answer without any opportunity of testing it farther? If so, we are estopped not by our own act, not by the testimony we ruled out ourselves; but by an act of another. But we are shut out from the truth because a Senator has put a question. We hold that the door has been opened, that new testimony has been introduced into the case, and we have a right to cross-examine witness to explain the testimony and contradict it. We can impeach the very witness who testified to it. If we can we are entitled to use every weapon the defendant has put into his hands.

Mr. BINGHAM—Although the Senate cannot fail to have observed the extraordinary remarks which have just fallen from the lips of the honorable counsel for the President, it is perfectly apparent, whether on the floor of the Senate or in the galleries, that the counsel for the President have attempted to obtain through this witness the mere naked declarations of the accused to rebut, the legal presumption of his guilt arising from his having done an unlawful act. I am not surprised at the feeling with which the honorable gentleman has discussed this question. If I heard the testimony which fell from the witness, it is testimony which utterly disappointed and confounded the counsel. What was it? Nothing was said in the first conversation about an appeal to the Courts, and finally it was said by the President that it was impossible to make up a case by which to appeal to the Court. These declarations of the President, standing in due yet not satisfactory to the counsel, are brought, to be sure, on a question from the honorable Senator from Maryland, but that is not satisfactory to the counsel, and now they tell the Senate they have a right to cross-examine their own witness. For what purpose? In search of truth they say. Well it is search of truth under difficulties, (Daughter) Witness has already sworn to matters of fact that shows the naked falsity of this defense, interposed here by the President, that his only purpose in the violation of the law was to test the validity of the law in the Courts. Why did he not test the validity of the law in the Courts? It will not do to say to the Senate of the United States he has accounted for it by telling the witness a case could not be made up. The learned gentleman who has just taken his seat is so familiar with the laws of the country, too familiar with the able adjudications in that very case in the Supreme Court, to venture to endorse for a moment these utterances of his client, made to the Lieut. General, that it was impossible to make up a case. I stand here to assert what the learned gentleman knows, that all that was needful to make up a case was for the President to do what he did do, in the first instance, issue an order to Mr. Stanton to surrender the office of Secretary of War to Mr. Thomas, to surrender all records and property of the office to him, and in disobedience of the Secretary or his refusal to obey that order, to exercise authority vested in the President, and at once, through his Attorney General, who now appears as his Attorney in the trial in defence in this case, issue out his writ of quo warranto. That is the law, which we undertake to say is settled in the case of Wallace, 5th Wheaton, the opinion of Court being delivered by Chief Justice Marshall, no member of the Court dissenting. It was declared by the Chief Justice that the opinion of Court was that a writ of quo warranto could not be maintained except at the instance of the Government. That power, therefore, was vested in the Attorney General. Let the President answer in some other way than by this declaration, sought to be reached by cross-examination of their own witness. But, Senators, there is something more than that in this case. I desire simply to refer to it in passing. The question which arises here in argument is substantially and in fact whether, having violated the Constitution and laws of the United States in the manner shown here, they cannot at last strip the people of the power which they retain to themselves by impeachment to hold such malefactors to answer before the Senate of the United States, to the exclusion of the interposition of every tribunal of justice on God's footstool. What has the question to do with the decision in this case? I say if your Supreme Court were sitting to-day in judgment on this question, it would have no influence over the action of this Senate. The question belongs to the Senate exclusively. The words of the Constitution are that a Senate shall have the sole power to try impeachments. The sole or only power to try impeachments includes power to determine the law and the facts arising in the case. It is in vain that the decision of the Supreme Court, or of the Circuit Court, the District Court, or of any other Court outside this high tribunal, is invoked for the decision of any question between all people and their guilty President. The protest against the speech has been made here. We protest also against the attempt that has been made here to cross-examine this witness to get rid of matter already stated so truthfully by witness, which clearly makes against their client, strips him naked for the avenging hand of justice to reach without let or hindrance.

Mr. EVARTS—Mr. Chief Justice and Senators: I cannot consent to leave matters so misrepresented. My learned associate, arguing on a hypothetical case, asked whether, if evidence elicited on the question of a judge should be injurious to a party, the party would be restricted from cross-examination. It had not the remotest application, as must have been apparent to every intelligent Senator, to the evidence given. The evidence given, if agreeable to the Managers, is extremely satisfactory to us. On inquiry of the President by the Lieut-General, whether lawyers could not make up a case without an ad interim appointment, the President said it could not be done; but when there was an ad interim appointment could not stand half an hour.

Mr. BINGHAM—I desire in response to remark very briefly that instead of counsel for the President bettering his client's case, he has made it worse by an attempt to explain the declaration of the President to witness, as to its being impossible to make up a case without an ad interim appointment. But now how does the case stand? Has not the President made the ad interim appointment three months before this conversation with the Lieutenant General? Has he not made an ad interim appointment of General Grant, in August, 1867? Oh! say the gentlemen, he only suspended Stanton then under the Tenure-of-Office act; therefore the quesoion could be very well raised. I have no doubt that will be the answer of the counsel, and is all the answer they can make. But gentlemen, Senators, how does such an answer, put in here by the President, that he did not make that suspension under the Tenure-of-Office act, but under the Constitution of the United States, and by virtue of the power vested in him by that Constitution? He cannot play fast and loose in that way in the presence of the Senate and people of the country. Why did he not sue out his writ of quo warranto in August last, when he had his appointment of Secretary of War ad interim? Why did he not go then into the Courts, forestalling the power of the people to try by impeachment for this violation of law, for this unlawful act, which, by the law of every country, where the common laws obtains, carries the criminal intent with it on its face, and which he cannot drive from the record by any false statement, nor swerve from the record in any shape or form, by any mere declaration of his own. Now one word more and I have done with this matter. He tells General Thomas they got evidence now they want to contradict, that evidence, too, after Stanton refused to obey Thomas' order, and after he ordered Thomas to go to his own place and Thomas refused. He tells Thomas, I say, not that he was going into the Courts, not that he should apply to the Attorney General for a writ quo warranto. There was no intimation of that sort. But there was a declaration of the accused to Lorenzo Thomas on the night of the 21st of February, after he had committed this crime against the laws and constitution of his country, that Thomas would go on and take possession of his office and discharge his functions as Secretary of War ad interim.

Senator DAVIS inquired of the Chief Justice whether the question proposed by Senator Johnson had been fully answered?

The CHIEF JUSTICE said it was impossible for him to reply to that question. Witness only could reply.

Senator DAVIS asked that the questions of Senator Johnson be read.

They were read accordingly.

The Chief Justice ruled on the objection made to question proposed by Mr. Stanbery that it was a matter entirely within the discretion of the Court, but that it was usual under such circumstances to allow counsel to continue the inquiry relating to the same subject matter.

The questions and answers were read by the reporter, and then Mr. Stanbery's question was put to witness as follows:

Have you answered as to both occasions?

Witness said at the first interview nothing very definite was said by the President or himself. During the second conversation the President expressed a wish to have the constitutionality of the Tenure-of-office law decided. He also said to witness, that if he accepted the position of Secretary Stanton, he would make no resistance, because he knew him to be a coward. Witness gave no positive answer at the time, but sent it in writing.

Senator HENDERSON put the question: Did the President, on either occasion, express a firm determination to remove Stanton?

Witness replied the President never expressed any intention to use force, but seemed determined that their relations should cease.

Senator HOWARD asked: What did the President say about force?

The witness repeated what he had said before in relation to the President, and his his belief that Stanton would make no resistance.

Senator HENDERSON asked whether the witness gave the President any advice on this subject? but

The Senate, without a division, refused to admit it.

The Managers notified Gen. Sherman that they would require his attendance in the morning and he left the stand.

Mr. Meigs was re-called and produced a docket-book, from which he read the entries in the Thomas and Stanton case, and the Court, at 4:40, adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, offered the following preamble and resolution:

WHEREAS, It is reported that efforts are being made to procure from the Government a transfer to a private Company, without consideration, the Island of Saint Paul, a territory embraced in the treaty with Russia;

AND WHEREAS, Said Island is believed to be very valuable, as being the only home of the fur seal in the world; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Foreign Affairs be directed to inquire into the matter and report to the House such efforts to procure a transfer to a private Company of said Island, and also in regard to the situation and all other facts connected therewith.

Agreed to.

Mr. WASHBURNE gave notice that in view of legislation he should move a call of the House on Thursday in order that gentlemen now absent may return by that time.

Mr. BANKS said if any business was transacted after the call of the House he would move to take up the House bill for the protection of the rights of American citizens in foreign States, which has precedence of others.

The SPEAKER remarked that was the first business after disposing of the resolution to print forty thousand copies of the speech of Manager Butler.

Mr. GARFIELD gave notice that on the return of the House from the Senate, he should ask for a vote on the resolution.

Mr. ELDRIDGE said he should object to the transaction of any business in the absence of a quorum, and would also object to the resolution unless one was admitted to print the opening speech of Judge Curtis in behalf of the President.

The SPEAKER said it would require unanimous consent.

Mr. KELSO objected.

Mr. LYNCH introduced a bill to amend the act concerning the registering of ships, approved December 30th, 1792. Referred to Committee on Commerce.

Mr. WELLER introduced a bill to further amend the laws of the District of Columbia in relation to judicial proceedings. Referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. COBURN introduced a bill to establish a post road from Plainville to Smoot's Dell, Indiana. Referred to the Committee on Postoffice.

On motion of Mr. BAKER it was resolved that the Secretary of War be instructed to communicate to the House the report on the improvement of the harbor at Alton, Delaware.

Mr. MAYNARD presented a memorial of the Memphis, El Paso & Pacific Railroad Company of Texas, praying for a grant of public lands and a loan of United States bonds to aid in constructing a continuous railroad and telegraph from Jeffries, Texas, to San Diego, California, by way of El Paso, with authority to make such railroad nonnections as to reach San Francisco, Guaymas, Memphis and Virginia City, and the harbor of Norfolk, in Virginia, or any other point on the Atlantic coast and Washington city, under the title of Southern Trans-Continental Railroad. Referred to Committee on the Pacific Railroad.

The members then proceeded to the Senate.

After the members returned the SPEAKER laid before them an invitation from the Committee of Arrangements, having in charge the dedication of Mr. Lincoln's monument, inviting the members to be in attendance on Wednesday next.

Mr. WASHBURNE, Ill., moved the Speaker prepare a proper answer to the invitation.

Mr. RAUM suggested a Committee of the House be appointed to attend.

The SPEAKER said of course it was understood any gentlemen who desire could be present, but the House as a body could not, as they had recently passed a resolution to attend the trial of impeachment.

The SPEAKER stated that on the 31st of March, the House ordered the previous question on the passage of a resolution from the Committee on Printing to print 40,000 copies of Manager Butler's opening speech on impeachment. The question now recurred, shall the main question be put?

Mr. ELDRIDGE desired to offer an amendment to the resolution.

The SPEAKER replied it could only be done by unanimous consent.

Mr. ELDRIDGE offered the amendment, which was read for information, that there be printed for the use the House forty thousand copies of the opening argument of the President's counsel, Judge Curtis.

The SPEAKER said unanimous consent could not make this a new order. By the statutes at large every proposition for the printing of extra numbers must be referred to the Committee on Printing. No amendment, nor unanimous consent, can evade the law.

Mr. ELDRIDGE said the Senate amends the House bill for raising the revenue.

The SPEAKER replied that was a constitutional right; but the rule said that propositions for printing extra numbers of documents must be referred to the Committee on Printing.

Mr. ELDRIDGE asked action on the resolution be delayed in order that the House might act on it and the amendment at a future time.

The SPEAKER replied the Committee had already reported on the resolution.

Mr. ELDRIDGE desired that the resolution be referred back to the Committee, so as to have the two propositions acted upon at the same time.

Mr. KELSY objected.

Mr. ELDRIDGE said the House would see that the resolution could not now pass, as a quorum was not present.

On a division, the ayes were forty-three and the nays fifteen. No quorum.

Adjourned.

SECRETARY STANTON.

He is Recommended for Secretary of the Treasury, in the Event of President Johnson's Deposition.

By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, PA., April 13.—The following communication, headed and prepared under the auspices of the State Senator of Erie, is signed by the Governor and all the Republican members of both Houses and heads of Departments:

To Hon. Simon Cameron, U. S. Senator:

DEAR SIR: The undersigned, your political friends, now at Harrisburg, the seat of government of Pennsylvania, would respectfully say, that upon the contingent succession of Hon. Benj. F. Wade to the Presidency of the United States, and on the reorganization of the Cabinet, that you recommend to the President, on behalf of Pennsylvania, the transfer of Hon. Edwin M. Stanton from the Department of War to that of the Treasury. Be pleased to say to Mr. Stanton, on our behalf, the country owes him a debt of gratitude for his services during the war that can never be adequately repaid, and we feel the demoralized condition of the Treasury Department, resulting from the mal-administration of Andrew Johnson, requires for its purification the same high characteristics exhibited by Mr. Stanton in the suppression of the rebellion.

CANADA.

The Assassination Investigation.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

OTTAWA, April 13.—There is a lull in the proceedings of the authorities. With the evidence taken on Saturday, relative to the assassination of McGee, the case for the Crown rests for the present. The indications are strong that some of the conspirators have unbosomed themselves to the authorities. To-day is observed as a holiday in respect to the deceased.

Arrival of Steamers.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

TOLEDO, O., April 13.—The steamer Passaic of the Erie Railway Line, and the Northern Transportation Company's steamer City of New York, both from Cleveland, arrived here to-day, being the first arrivals of the season from ports down the lake. The steamer Elmira of the Erie Line, cleared for Buffalo yesterday.

ANACREONTIC.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 11, 1868.

To the Editors of the Evening Post:

The following Anacreontic gem has, I am confident, never been published. It was kindly furnished to me when I was in England in 1865, by an American gentleman, (Mr. Gould, a brother of Judge Gould, of Troy,) who has resided for many years in London. He informed me that it was the joint offspring of the muses of Thos. Moore, Samuel Rogers, and John Kenyon, modestly adding that he himself had aided in a small degree in its composition. It was written, he told me, at the dinner-table of Rogers, amid the flow and sparkle of the "pink champagne," when Mr. Gould was present, with the illustrious poets I have named, as guests of Rogers.

Very truly, yours, A. R. DYETT.

Lilies on liquid roses floating,
So floats the foam on pink champagne;
Fain would I join such pleasant boating,
And tempt you ruby main,
And float away on wine.

Those seas are dangerous, graybeards swear,
Whose sea-beach is the goblet's brim;
And true it is they drown old Care,
But what care we for him,
If we may float on wine?

Old Time shall smooth away each wrinkle,
Bright garlands round his scythe shall twine,
The sand from out his glass shall sprinkle
And fill it up with wine,
With rosy sparkling wine.

Thus hours shall pass which no man reckons,
With us, who, mad with mirth divine,
See not the shadowy hand that beckons
Across the sea of wine,
Of rosy sparkling wine.

Old Charon's self shall make him mellow,
Then gently row his boat from shore,
While we and every jovial fellow,
Shall hear, unmoved, the oar
That dips itself in wine!

—Wallace's opera of Lurline is soon to be produced at Pike's Opera House, in New York.

—There are 4,500 French troops in Rome. The Pope is better guarded than he wants to be.

—The Mills House at Charleston, celebrated in the early history of the rebellion, has been closed.

—Bostonians are all prepared to go off on a tremendous excitement on the Jaunascheck, when she comes.

—The New York School of Design for Females has two hundred pupils. Probably because it is a good school.

—The House of Representatives at Albany is said to be not the house that Vanderbilt, but the one he bought.

—There are but four graduates of Harvard in this city, while Yale can number her children here by scores.

—The London Orchestra has a very favorable notice, a column long, of Mr. Wehli, the renowned pianist.

—Madame Rumor having tired of engaging Patti, has taken up Nillssen whom she has engaged to Gustave Dore.

—The sackbut, so often mentioned in the saered writings, turns out to have been nothing but a trombone after all.

—Miss Maria Theresa Cole, of New York, it is said, has become Countess of Salisbury by marrying the Earl of that domain.

—"The beautiful Mrs. Sprague in royal purple" looked down upon her father from the gallery of the Senate, the other day.

—Captain Joseph Brown, one of the most enterprising citizens of St. Louis, has been elected a director of the Pacific Railroad.

—There is to be a tournament in Florence to amuse Prince Humbert and his bride. 500 Knights in armor are to take part in it.

—Some one has found out that however much Mormons may enjoy wooing women, they are never satisfied when they have one.

—Elm trees, fifty feet high, are being planted in Chicago. A few of the sort would not be out of place in the Allegheny commons.

—Door plates have gone out of fashion, and in their place monograms have come in. The more indecipherable these monograms are, the better.

—Darcy McGee was no teetotalist, not even a temperance man, in fact as an exchange says "he hoisted an enormous quantity of liquor,"

—A tender mother out west knowing that her child richly deserved a flogging, gave it to him, first, however, putting him under the influence of chloroform.

—The steamer Quaker City has been sold at auction. This is the vessel which was immortalized by carrying Mark Twain to the Holy Land and by bringing him back.

—The Democrats of Hartford paid $200 to a German woman for carrying her husband to the polls on her back. $200 a vote would make between thirty and forty thousand dollars for the recent majority for Governor.

—A Chicago bride received as a bridal present a sardonyx pin, two thousand years old. This is like setting a mushroom on top of the pyramids. A Pharaoh at Chicago.

—It is expected that Cassius M. Clay, the staunch old statesman who has so long and so ably represented our interests at St. Petersburgh, will arrive at New York this week.

—A far-goner wants to know when a young lady is like an ape? He answered himself by pointing to his sister at the piano and saying: When her fingers are 'mong keys.

—The New York Herald has come to the conclusion that if Ben Wade ever comes to be President he will hang Jeff. Davis to a sour apple tree, or something else equally effective.

—Florence Marryat will soon publish a new novel. Florence's novels are better worth reading, although they do not contain so many sea terms as did those of her father the Captain.

—The Austrian Government has made arrangements with prominent Poles and Hungarians, which will result in the construction of a much needed railway from Hungary to Galicia.

—The New York Commercial Advertiser says that nine men out of every ten who say jewty for duty, part their hair in the middle. The Advertiser might have said the same about women.

—"Dikes and Ditches," Mr. Oliver Optic's new book for boys will appear in May. This is good news for the young folks, for there is surely no pleasanter or better writer for them.

—Madame Ristori, it is said, will play Sor Teresa on the 2d of May in New York. This is the play which was the cause of the trouble between the Bishop of Havana and the Captain General of Cuba.

—A young man from Chicago, who has been a great favorite in the gay circles of Paris this winter, and noted for his graceful dancing and reckless expenditure, drowned himself in the Seine the other day, leaving a huge list of debts behind him.

—The typographical associations of New York are vigorously opposed to the introduction of printing presses into the penitentiaries of New York. They say it will make printers of a class of men who, hitherto, have had nothing in common with the respectable guild of the press.

—Charles Dickens claims that his most appreciative audience was in New Haven. This is no compliment, for most persons who have heard the readings of Mr. D. agree that they are wearisome. If New Haven possessed Mr. Dickens' most appreciative readers, it might, perhaps, pride itself on the fact with some reason.

—The Persians presented colored eggs to each other on each recurring Solar New Year (in March.) The Jews used eggs during the feast of the Passover. From which of these sources the world wide christian custom of colored eggs at Easter is derived, is a mooted question. Eggs were considered emblematic of resurrection and of a future life by the early Christians.

—Two new novels, likely to make a sensation among the lovers of light literature, are announced as forthcoming on the 18th inst. "Dora," by Julia Kavenagh, and "Not Wisely, But Too Well," by the author of that wonderful book, "Cometh Up as a Flower." A peculiar interest is felt in this latter book, as the publishers announce that even they do not know who is the author.

—The Boston Advertiser has gotten off a new nursery rhyme on the Boston Post, which will answer about as well for the Pittsburgh Post:

Sing a song of 'Lection—
Make a sounding boast!
Eight lively Roosters
Crowing in the Post!
When the Post was opened
The news each one did go for,
But very few could really find
That there was much to crow for.

—The number of Pittsburghers at present in Philadelphia is very large. Some fourteen names are on the hotel lists in Saturday's papers, and during the next two or three days many more will be registered. Besides the regular spring rush to the eastern cities, a very large number of our citizens will be drawn to the Quaker city this week by their absorbing interest, (or something else) in the proceedings of the Court of Quarter Sessions.

—The Minneapolis ghost has explained to three persons the object of his visit to this world. He wished to warn his wife and daughter not to go to California, as the steamer on which they expected to take passage will be burned when three days out from the Isthmus. This is probably the best authenticated ghost on record, and is vouched for by some of the most prominent Minneapolitans. The fate of the Pacific steamers will be watched with additional interest for some time to come.

Selections for a Newspaper.

Most people think the selections of suitable matter for a newspaper the easiest part of the business. How great an error. To look over and over fifty exchange papers daily, from which to select enough for one, especially when the question is not what shall, but what shall not be selected, is no very easy task. If every person who reads a newspaper could have edited it, we should have less complaining. Not unfrequently it is the case that an editor looks over all his exchange papers for something interesting and can find absolutely nothing.

Every paper is drier than a contribution box, and yet something must be had—his paper must be out with something in it, and he does the best he can, To an editor who has the least care in what he selects, the writing he has to do is the easiest part of his labor. Every subscriber thinks the paper is printed for his own benefit, and if there is nothing that suits him, it must be stopped—it is good for nothing. As many subscribers as an editor has, so many tastes he has to consult.

One wants something very smart and something sound. One likes anecdotes, fun and frolic, and the next door neighbor wonders that a man of sense will put such stuff in his paper. Something spicy comes out and the editor is a blackguard. Next comes something argumentative, and the editor is a dull fool. And so, between them all, the poor fellow gets the d—l. They never reflect that what does not please them will please the next man; but they insist that if the paper does not suit them it is good for nothing, and will stop it right off.

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.
Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. RIVER NEWS.

Both rivers rose considerably during Sunday night and yesterday, and were still rising steadily last evening with ten and a half feet in the Monongahela, and eleven feet in the Allegheny. The snow is rapidly disappearing, and is scarcely visi- ble anywhere except on the hill tops, and in places where it was protected from the influence of the sun.

Telegrams from the head waters of the Allegheny report as follows; Tidioute—forty inches and rising slowly. Oil City—five feet and rising slowly and thawing. Jamestown—snow went off on Saturday night with a good rain. From the above it is evident that there will be considerable of a freshet in the Allegheny, and we should not be surprised to see it higher than at any time this spring.

The Ida Rees No. 2 arrived on Sunday night, and will return to Oil City this even- ing as usual at four o'clock. The Ida is a great favorite in the trade, as is also her Captain, Rees Rees.

The R. C. Gray, Capt. W. B. Anderson, is announced to leave for Cincinnati and Lou- isville to-morrow.

The Argosy, Capt. Vandergrift, with Mr. W. H. Scott, in the office, is the regular packet for Cincinnati to-morrow, leaving promptly ot noon.

The Importer, Capt. Williams, will be the first boat out for Fort Benton. She has just been thoroughly overhauled and re- paired, and is, therefore, in first rate con- dition. She will be followed by the Silver Lake, Capt. Todd.

The Bayard, Capt. Asa Shepard, is the regular packet for Parkersburg to-day, leaving promptly at noon. The Bayard is in splendid condition for business, and will make her trips with regularity and dis- patch.

The Echo is due here from Oil City to- day, and will return as usual on Wednes- day.

The Maggie Hays, Capt. B. C. Martin, will be the first boat out for the Upper Mississippi, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind.

The Mary Davage, with one of her barges, arrived from St. Louis on Sunday. She started back to Steubenville to bring her other barge which was left there to be un- loaded—contained some three hundred tons of iron ore. The Davage will at once commence loading for St. Louis.

The Bellevernon got in from St. Louis on Sunday night, with a good trip, and as will be seen by reference to advertisement, she will return again to-morrow, Captain J. J. Darragh, Jr., in command. The Bellevernon will receipt through Upper Mississippi freight in connection with the Northern Line Packet Co.

The Julia No. 2 arrived from Zanesville, and will return as usual to-day. Among her passengers we noticed Mr. W. G. Wil- son, who for many years was clerk of the Emma Graham, while under the command of Capt. Ayers. Mr. Wilson is now engaged in business at Beverly. The Julia will re- turn as usual to-day.

The Glendale and Kate Putnam were ad- vertised to leave St. Louis for Pittsburgh on Saturday last.

A resident of Cincinnati expresses his feelings in the following style; "Talk about filters! Just eat a quart of Ohio river water and stand in the sun for five minutes and you will find the aforesaid coming out at every pore, beatifully filtered, while your stomach becomes converted into a sand-bag, and you can hear the gravel rat- tle as you walk."

The New Orleans Times, of last Wednes- day, says: There was quite an excitement on the landing yesterday evening, on ac- count of the two fast steamers leaving port on the same day, the Robt. E. Lee and the Belle Lee, two of the finest steamers that come to our port; and the fact that both of these steamers were going to leave yester- day evening brought a large concourse of our citizens to see the "two fast ones" leave. There was a good deal of excite- ment manifested by the crowd, for each boat had their friends and well-wishers, and there was many a watch drawn to note the exact time of the departure of the two boats; and all agree that the difference in the time of the two boats, after straighten- ing up was fourteen minutes, the Bobert E. Lee in advance, and when passing the stock landing the difference between the two boats was fifteen minutes, showing a gain of one minute in that distance in favor of the R. E. Lee.

The St. Louis Democrat says: Freight rates to New Orleans continue firm. The business is all done by two lines, the barge line and the Coalition line. The Continen- tal, Mollie Able, Bismark and Common- wealth have joined the Coalition. Freights seem abundant. They hear of large quan- tities at Cairo, which must be cleared off.

The Amelia Poe left St. Louis for Fort Benton Friday with nine passengers, and one hundred and fifty-four tons of freight. The Andrew Ackley was advertised to follow on Saturday.

The Kenton arrived at Cincinnati on Sat- urday en route for St. Louis.

If our "Legislators" had been on the landing yesterday afternoon and witnessed the towboat W. H. Brown, with her tow of 12 large barges heavily ladened with salt, descending the river, backing and strug- gling to maintain her position in the center of the river, while passing under the sus- pension bridge, they would have gone straightway to work and repealed the bill allowing a bridge to be built across the Ohio river with piers, and with a span of only 300 feet over the main channel. The Brown had six barges abreast, forward, which, estimating each barge at forty feet, would be two hundred and forty feet; then again estimating each barge to be one hundred and fifty feet long, and the boat at one hun- dred and eighty feet, would give a total length of about five hundred feet. Query—Could this boat, with her tow, have passed safely between piers located in a narrow part of the river, and at no greater distance apart than three hundred feet.—Cincinnati Chronicle.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 139¾.

AN INDIAN WAR is said to be brewing in Alaska. Russia, however, makes no additional charge for the bargain.

THE Senate very properly refuses to receive hearsay testimony or the private opinions of third parties, in the trial of impeachment.

EMILE LOISEAU, of Nashville, Tenn., has invented a machine for manufacturing lump coal out of the refuse dust and slack which are now permitted to go to waste. Many unsuccessful attempts have been made both in this country and Europe to produce a machine that will accomplish that very desirable end, but thus far all have failed, owing to the fact that the cost of production exceeded its market value. It is claimed that the present invention will prove a complete success. Millions of dollars would be annually saved by coal operators throughout this State if such a machine would accomplish the end proposed.

THE COUNSEL for Mr. JOHNSON, it is reported, inform him that no case has been made out by the Managers, and he accordingly expresses his confidence in an acquittal. This is not the first time that counsel have suffered their feelings to outrun their judgment, nor is it the first time that the "humble individual" now on trial has flattered himself with delusive hopes. When he "swung around the circle," he left Washington with an equal confidence that such an ovation awaited him, at the hands of his grateful countrymen, as no American President had ever before known. He did receive an ovation, altogether unprecedented in its character, but it was an ovation (excuse the slang for the sake of the subject) "over the left." A similar experience again waits for our easily deluded but unpleasantly disabused Executive.

If his counsel would say to him that he will be convicted, as surely as the sun shines in May, upon the one great charge of a bold and confessed violation, upon no matter what pretext, of the duly enacted law of the land, in the removal of the Secretary of War, and that, very possibly, upon the other charges of secondary consequence, which allege conspiracies and inflammatory, intemperate speech-making, the Senate will not think it proper to declare his guilt, they would give a conspicuous proof that very great lawyers may also be very sensible men, and probably would foreshadow the result with entire prophetical accuracy. We shall even take the liberty of presuming that this is what they have in fact told the uneasy occupant of the White House, gossiping "special" reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

THE Philadelphia Press, in stating that the State Convention "upon the nomination of a majority of the delegates from the district, selected" certain specified delegates, with their alternates, to Chicago, entirely mistakes the facts. In the State Convention, six of the eight delegates from the XXIIIrd district voted against McClure's resolution for the appointment of delegates by the Convention, and but two gentlemen from the district voted for it. The same majority opposed the entire action of the Convention in that regard as an unwarranted and unjustifiable stretch of authority. And the Conferees of the district, meeting subsequently, made up the delegation to Chicago to suit the ruling sentiment of their constituents. They chose to appoint but three of the four gentlemen whom the State Convention had already named, reversing the position of one of these three from a delegate to an alternate, and adding another name to the list, to the exclusion of one of the appointees.

So far as the same journal, in its statement that the Conferees refused to adopt any instructions for either President or Vice President, would create, intentionally or otherwise, an impression that the Conferees had any hesitation in recommending Gen. GRANT, its error is equally a decided one. Our report expressly stated that the Conferees were a unit for GRANT, but tabled a resolution which coupled his name with that of Ex-Governor CURTIN. The one thing does not mean the other, as the readers of the Press might infer from its statement, but clearly signifies the sentiment of the district as to each of the gentlemen named for the two offices.

POLEMICAL DIVINITY.

The rapid spread of Union sentiment among branches holding the same leading essentials in doctrine and polity, and the rapidly growing feeling of general union by the evangelical denominations, is causing severer strictures on those who would hinder the spirit of brotherly union, than if this element were not so widely disseminated and generally entertained. Reports are rife of severe measures being spoken of to restrain the course of the younger Tyng, in pursuing his liberal proclivities, and that Mr. Hubbard is to be dealt with in a summary manner. Elsewhere it is noted that Bishop Eastman and Dr. Nicholson have been officiating in other churches of a non-episcopal character. On the other hand Dr. Dix is charged with fraternizing with those who would give great offence to the evangelical party in the Episcopal Church. This rumor is denied. It seems that this unfortunate spirit, so much berated as existing in the Episcopal Church, is not confined alone to that body, but that the same spirit of conservatism exists among a certain class of Baptist ministers, who hold exclusive views. Mr. Hubbard, the Episcopal clergyman of Westerly, Rhode Island, who exchanged pulpits with Mr. Dennison, the Baptist minister, wished to go farther in the work of fraternization, and offered to receive the communion at the hands of Mr. Dennison. The latter refused on the ground that Mr. Hubbard had not been baptized by immersion. A more liberal Baptist preacher, Rev. Mr. Malcolm, of Newport, R. I., however, held a union sacramental service, in which clergymen of other denominations assisted in distributing the elements of communion. The "close" Baptists are pouring out vials of wrath on Mr. Malcolm for his liberal course. No comment is necessary, nor is it well for us to express our views, as to the conduct of either party in these Churches. Time alone will adjust the frictions in the different ecclesiastical systems, far more certainly and completely than in any other way. The high tribunal, the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church will likely have the disputed questions in that Church, among the ministers, and the people, before them for adjustment. Meanwhile, it is better to wait for the solution of the disturbing questions by the General Convention.

But, as to the circumstances connected especially with the case of the younger Mr. Tyng, we may remark that he is reported as denying that he has again violated any of the canons of his Church since he received the reprimand of the Bishop. He also declares that he has never joined in any plan to defy the authority of the Church, but announces that he shall not attend a second trial, if summoned by his ecclesiastical superior.

Irrespective of the statements which are thus attributed to him, it has seemed to us that this clergyman has reached a position where he should find no difficulty in taking an independent stand, outside of a denomination within which he is unwilling to render that obedience which its canons require from all its ministers. If he can no longer heartily concur in and conform his conduct to the letter and spirit of its rubric, his place is evidently no longer within the pale of that deno mination. He is at perfect liberty to withdraw from a communion which he no longer finds congenial; he need not persist in exposing himself to a discipline which he finds distasteful. No degree of sympathy which the outside world may feel, in behalf of any general principle of catholic liberality, which recognizes and honors equally the evangelically Christian spirit of various denominations, can at the same time justly excuse the clergyman who, instead of freely and consistently exercising his individual freedom, in such a connection as shall harmonize with his own views of duty, finds it instead agreeable or politic to cling to his earlier choice, and yet maintaining a constant war against its discipline, and aiming to achieve some sort of notoriety by a perpetual and turbulent disregard of its canons and rules of order.

If the Rev. Mr. Tyng is an Episcopalian, let him, among other Christian graces, emulate that of obedience to the authorities of the church which its ministers have pledged themselves to acknowledge. If the discipline be distasteful, let him assail its objectionable features, and attempt their reform, in better accordance with his peculiar views, by the proper and orderly methods which prescribe the submission of all such questions to certain appellate tribunals. If he cannot do this, he is no longer a proper member of that particular denomination; his place is elsewhere, and he is entirely free to occupy it at once, for he can gain no especial credit in aiming at a very doubtful sort of spiritual martyrdom, in an irregular warfare against the authorities whom he has not yet disavowed and in whose communion he still claims a membership. The opinions which we express are applicable to other denominations and to all other similar cases, as well as to that of Mr. Tyng and the enlightened and powerful Church of which he has been, and perhaps still intends to continue, a member. Our criticism, although suggested by a particular case, is intended to be general. We have no denominational bias, but we do entertain a decided respect as much for consistency in practice as for the most absolute freedom of religious and denominational sentiment. We need express no judgment upon the exact merits of any effort to narrow the basis upon which all denominational distinctions rest. We are content with saying that, under all the circumstances of the case particularly referred to, a very needless and unfounded sympathy has been awakened outside of the denomination especially concerned, by the persistent but wrong-headed ability with which a discontented member is endeavoring, in a false position, to win a spiritual martyrdom. This is the whole of this matter, as we understand it. We are very far from believing a charge of which no feature of this case affords an iota of satisfactory proof; a charge as far as possible at variance with the Broad-Church liberality of Christian feeling with which the denomination in question has ever recognized other evangelical organizations, independent of the question of mere discipline. All denominations are precise and tenacious in their respective requirements in this regard, as they have the right to be. But none of these, for a consistent enforcement of internal discipline, can be accused of a lack of respect for the just claims of other denominations to an enlightened and evangelical Christianity.

ETIQUETTE IN THE STREET.

Than true politeness there is probably nothing more charming, certainly very little is more rare. Some one has said that "the true gentleman is always a gentlaman;" if this be so, judging by the shocking want of politeness manifested in the streets and places of public amusement, there is but little of it to be found in the city, comparatively speaking of course.

Walking down Fifth street we will, if the street be crowded, be violently thrust aside half a dozen times while walking half as many blocks, by men who are not in a violent hurry, but who do neglect the universal laws of public etiquette. In crossing a muddy thoroughfare, the chances are ten to one that some passing driver will touch up his horses and endeavor to pass in front of you or make you drop your dignity, and literally run for your life. You get into a street car and find men hawking and squirting the nicotian juice on all things, crowding down into a narrow space between two other people without as much as a "by your leave" when room is to be had in other parts of the car, rising to give place when some pretty girl steps into the car, and lounging over double space, when some infirm old man or withered hag stands tottering in the aisle; or rushing to get out with an utter disregard to the feelings always to be found in men's toes when pressed.

All of these are obvious breaches of the laws of street politeness. Every man has his equal rights in the street. Each one who walks the pavement is protected in those rights by the laws of the city, and yet some men push and crowd and squirt brown defiance from their mouths while their eyes look around as if they only had rights and all others were infringing them. As to giving up seats in cars, every man has a right to do that or not as he pleases, but he should be consistent; if he gives up his place because a less robust person would be forced to stand if he did not do so, why then old men and women should get it before young ones. If, however, he gives it up out of respect to a pretty face, he should remember that more reverence is due to gray hairs than to brown ones, and act accordingly.

Even the weaker and more lovely portion of mankind is not always polite in the streets. To say nothing of the trails which sweep through the dirt until we are willing to agree with Every Afternoon in asserting that whatever may become of man, the end of woman is dust. These discommode us, but we all bow down to fashion. Still, there are little things which might be better done. It is not necessary, for instance, as soon as a man has passed a bevy of girls, for the bevy to set to giggling and making audible personal remarks. It is not right that two females should cross the muddy streets abreast when there are but two rows of stepping stones, nor is it necessary to say "Well, I never," if some man coming in the opposite direction refuses to step into the mud and insists on keeping to the right as directed by the legal authorities of the Commonwealth. We hardly consider it polite for women to walk up and down the aisles of crowded halls repeatedly, after they have found out that no seats are vacant; and we most certainly never give our seats in a street car to any woman who brazenly and conspicuously laments, while standing in the aisle, the decadence of politeness in men.

The lack of breeding is always distressing when publicly made apparent, but more particularly is this the case when the person displaying it is well dressed. In spite of republicanism, we always do expect more from a person arrayed in broadcloth or velvet than from the wearer of fustian or frieze, and when we do not find it we are the more disappointed. By a very slight effort on the part of every citizen, the whole tone of street society might be changed for the better, and we fully believe that thoughtlessness and not ignorance is often the cause of many breaches of etiquette in the street.

THE editor of the Janesville Gazette, whose word is entirely reliable, writes this about a man whose public position is our only excuse for giving circulation to such personal gossip:

Yates has been on a perpetual spree for some weeks, but now a committee of ladies, with Bishop Simpson at their head, have got possession of him and hope to get him sober once more. Mrs. Yates is a Methodist lady of great worth, and Yates himself often leans that way, (I speak theologically and not literally) hence the efforts of the good Bishop to win back this erring man to the path of duty and usefulness. If impeachment should fail for the want of Yates' vote, there would be such music in our neighboring State of Illinois as was never heard before, and the great necessity of electing sober men to office—a lesson repeated many hundred times in this country—would receive such emphasis as to pierce the dull ear of every constituency throughout the length and breadth of the land.

Steel vs. Iron Rails.

An Erie railway report of last month says: "With the ten miles laid with the John Brown Bessemer steel no fault need be found. But one rail has broken during the winter, and no lamination and very little wear is perceptible. Twenty steel rails were laid in Jersey City yard last March; the iron rails adjoining, subject to the same wear, have been renewed four times since the steel was put down, and I have no doubt the steel rails will outlast three times as many more iron rails.

THE gold, silver and bronze medals, which were accorded the United States exhibitors in the Paris Universal Exposition have arrived at New York. There are several hundred of these medals, each of which is set in a glass frame; and it required seventeen large cases to box them. They were consigned to the United States agent, J. C. Derby, and will be forwarded by him to Washington. They will be placed on public exhibition at the Capital for a short time, and afterward distributed to their owners.

The Ku-Klux Klan.

The Memphis Post publishes the full organization of the Ku-Klux Grand Council, obtained by the seizure of the "den" in that city. The following is the instrument:

ORGANIZATION.

The name of this den shall be the Supreme Cyclopean Council, and its officers shall consist of a Grand Cyclops, a Vice Grand Cyclops and a Secretary. All funds coming into the Association shall be under the control of the three officers above named, and two Directors to be elected, who shall act as a supervising council, and their decisions on all questions shall be final. The meetings shall be called by the Grand Cyclops, when he deems it necessary, and shall be done through the papers in the cipher of the organization.

OBJECT.

The object of this organization is for the purpose of protecting the people of the South from the band of murderers and robbers now preying upon them, even to the last resort—assassination—and we pledge ourselves one to the other that nothing shall be allowed to deviate us from this noble object.

ENTRANCE.

Entrance to the lodge room will be obtained through the medium of two raps in quick succession, to be followed by two slow ones. The Inside Sentinel will say "Our trust;" the outside applicant will answer "is in God." He will then be admitted, and upon giving the grip, as detailed in another place, he can take his place.

INITIATION.

All candidates shall be ballotted for in open council, and if any applicant receive three black balls, he cannot be admitted. As soon as a candidate is elected, he shall be introduced by a brother appointed by the Grand Cyclops. The members of the lodge, all shrouded, will rise and receive him and conduct him into the middle of the room. Each member of the order shall have a drawn dagger or other weapon in his hand, pointed toward the candidate, and each member will be required, in the presence of the candidate, to swear that should said candidate prove recreant to the oath which he is about to take, that he will kill him, and make it his especial duty to do so on the first safe opportunity. As soon as the shrouded brothers have taken the above oath, the following charge and oath shall be administered by the Grand Cyclops, or, in his absence, the Vice Grand:

"Here in the presence of this skull and the members here assembled, I solemnly swear to be true to the Order, to its members individually and collectively, and should I ever, by sign, word or deed, betray a secret, or a member of the Brotherhood, that the skull upon which I now look may be a counterpart of mine, and I hope that all the social relations which I now enjoy may be sundered, that honesty in the men or virtues in the females may not be known in my family or generation, and that all who own my name shall be branded as dogs and harlots. I further swear to obey implicitly the orders of the Grand Cyclops, regularly issued through his Council, and as soon as I receive an order to fulfill it. I again swear that, should a member of this order be in danger, that, even at the risk of my life, I will defend and endeavor to save him; that I will give no outward sign or hint that a person may know of the existence of the K. K. K., unless authorized by the Grand Cyclops, and that each member of this Order, as soon as the sign is given, I will recognize, defend and protect as a brother. I further swear, that I will, under and in all circumstances, bear true allegiance to the South and her interests, as interpreted by the Supreme Cyclopean Council, and when I receive its orders, should I even be in the embraces of my wife, I will leave her to obey them. I further swear that all Radicals and negroes, who have placed themselves opposite to the interests of the owners of the soil of Tennessee shall forever be my enemies, and that under no circumstance will I have other connection with them, if I can help it, than to "welcome them with bloody hands to hospitable graves." That my family and the family of a Radical shall never interchange visits, and I further pray that the God of the Southland, whom I now invoke, shall strike me dead shall I ever, either in letter or in spirit, refringe upon the things set forth in this oath. To all of which I swear in honesty of heart and sincerety of purpose. So help me God."

A Radical Editor Converses with Grant.

Mr. A. M. Thompson, editor of the Janesville Gazette, and one of the best writers and sound politicians of Wisconsin, has seen Grant, and is delighted with the man. He writes home to his paper from Washington:

"At the residences of the Washburns, on Saturday evening, (General C. C., of our State, and E. B., of Illinois, are keeping house together on Capitol Hill), I had the pleasure of meeting a gentleman to whom the people are now looking with confidence and hope—General U. S. Grant. Being a little Radical myself (only a little dear readers of the Gazette, but still a little) and having been an anti-slavery man long before the Republican party was born, I am free to confess that my hat has been irreverently kept on my head while the air has been blackened with the exultant toss of the caps of my political associates, in honor of the great chieftain. I always admired him as an honest, true man and as a great General, but I felt that at this crisis in our national affairs we could not afford to run any risks of being cheated in our selection of candidates, so I said that as soon as I could be satisfied Grant was to be trusted I should be heartily in his favor. This assurance of the General's soundness upon the political questions that have disturbed and agitated the public mind, was given long ago, and the Republican party declared for him with a unanimity never before known. So it was with sincere pleasure that I heard from his own lips the expression of sentiments touching our public affairs that filled me with the greatest confidence and admiration for the man. I cannot violate the propriety of that occasion to the extent of making public what was uttered by the General under the sacred privacy of his intimate friend's roof, but simply say that hereafter I know what I am affirming when I recommend him as worthy of the confidence and support of the Republicans of Wisconsin. He conversed with the utmost freedom upon all questions introduced, and his criticisms upon public measures and public men were so fair and just as to commend them to the approbation of all present."

IN the Pittsburgh GAZETTE of Saturday we find an article entitled "Our Water Communications," written in so frank and neighborly a spirit that we cannot resist extending our hand to our neighbor in acknowledgment thereof, and echo its wish that harmony on this question may prevail, and the two cities become more closely united in fact and feeling than has been the case heretofore.—Erie Dispatch.

AT the recent elections held in Wurtemberg for the first German Zollverein Parliament, the party favorable to Prussia and to the entry of the South German States into the North German Parliament, was successful in each of the seventeen Districts. The union of South Germany with the North German Confederation has for the present been defeated.

Mining Troubles in Nevada.

A few days ago, the telegraph announced that the Governor of Nevada had, by the strongest means in his power, quelled the disturbances in the above mines. The Owyhee (Nevada) Avalanche, March 19th, has the following particulars:

"We took a stroll over the Oro Fino mountain last Wednesday, and found quite a belligerent state of affairs. Proceeding from the Oro Fino mine over the summit, we noticed parties shoveling snow, and upon inquiry, learned that a man named Woodhouse had sunk a shaft on a ledge in the vicinity of the New York, and which the Ida Elmore party claim is within their proper boundaries. On the morning in question Woodhouse was down in the shaft, which, we understand, was about twenty feet deep. Being ordered to come out, he refused, and two men commenced to fill the shaft with snow, above which Woodhouse, with considerable exertion, managed to keep his head, until the shaft was filled up, which brought him to the surface. We then visited the Ida Elmore and Golden Chariot mines, and I observed many of the miners standing around idle, while other parties in both mines were silently hurrying to and fro with guns and pistols. From the ominous looks of those interested, together with the martial array, we concluded that trouble was brewing. We went down into the Golden Chariot and saw the "bone of contention"—the place which we mentioned in our last, where the partition wall was broken down, and the workmen in both mines met. The lights were extinguished, and we skedaddled as we heard the reports of guns and pistols reverberating through the long, dark passages. The fight had commenced. We felt considerably relieved upon gaining the surface of the ground and once more beholding the light of day. We learn that the combatants have fortified themselves in the stops and drifts. It is not known on the outside that anyone has been seriously hurt, although it is reported that one man's coat tail was shot off, and another had his fingers cut with a bullet. It is feared that something fatal will occur before the affair is terminated, as both parties are well armed. We learn that they have been trying to drown each other out, and it is reported that the Ida Elmore party are preparing hose by which to eject hot steam and water upon their antagonists. About forty shots were exchanged on Thursday. This sort of affairs is to be regretted.

THE Iron Age, the organ of perhaps the most weighty business interest of the land, comes out this week with a temperate and well weighed leader, demanding in the name of the business of the country the prompt disposition of the case of Andrew Johnson. Not only iron, but coal, cotton, wheat, and the multitudinous industries of the nation are pleading for the same justice.

A very general feeling prevails in Kansas that there will be serious Indian trouble in that State this summer, and it is thought this cavalry has been sent out to meet such a condition of things. Very little reliance is placed upon the treaties with the Indians being carried out in good faith by them.

—Idaho advices to April fourth give an account of a shooting affray at Silver City, April first, which resulted in the killing of Marion Moore and the wounding of two other persons. Moore's friends assembled in large numbers and were well armed while the opposing party fortified themselves in the Idaho Hotel. Governor Ballard issued a proclamation, ordering the parties to disperse, or he would call on the military authorities to suppress the riot. A company of troops was ordered from Fort Boez and will probably be stationed at Silver City until affairs are quieted. Several arrests were made, but the parties released on bail.

The Abyssinian Expedition---Newmarket and Paris Races---French Warlike Preparations--Farragut--The Markets, &c.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE ABYSSINIAN EXPEDITION—DISPATCHES FROM GENERAL NAPIER.

LONDON, April 3.—Official dispatches from General Napier, in command of the Abyssinian expedition, have been received by the Government. They show that in spite of bad roads, the British forces are steadily advancing towards Magdela. Meanwhile there is every evidence of the intention of the King of Abyssinia to offer serious resistance.

General Napier in his latest dispatch, dated near Lake Oshange, March 17th, says: "Our advance will reach Lake Oshange to-morrow. The rear, with artillery and supply trains, are three days behind. The country is mountainous and very difficult for artillery and trains. King Theodorus is near Magdela, where he intends to make a stand. Letters from captives says they are well. The health of the troops is good.

The effective force under Gen. Napier now advancing on Magdela numbers 3,600 men.

REVIEW OF TROOPS.

A grand review of volunteers was held at Portsmouth to-day. Over 30,000 men were in the ranks. Vast crowds of spectators from Portsmouth and the surrounding country and from London witnessed the evolutions.

THE NEW MARKET RACES.

The New Market Craven race meeting commenced to-day and will continue through the present week. The Craven stakes were won by Florence, the free-handicap sweepstakes by Sixteenus, and sweepstakes of fifty sovereigns by Turpin.

FRANCE.

THE WARLIKE PREPARATIONS.

PARIS, April 13.—La Liberte has another editorial calculated to allay general discontentment and uneasiness, which has been inspired by recent warlike preparations of the French government. The writer says that the United States Legation at Paris is continually overrun with Frenchmen, who are anxious to escape the military service to which they are now liable under the provisions of the new army bill. Knowing nothing of the American laws of naturalization, and having only the lately concluded Prusso-American treaty in their minds, they are literally besieging the United States representative for naturalization papers. Of course all the applicants were refused, lacking the five years actual residence in America as required by law.

THE PARIS RACES.

PARIS, April 13.—The Paris races began at Long Champs this afternoon, and were fully attended. The Guiche prize was won by Pompier, owned by Marquis De La Grange. M. Fould's Petit Corporal was the winner of the Lutez prize. The Marquis De La Grange's famous racer Long Champs took the Landron prize.

MALTA.

FARRAGUT AND HIS FLEET.

MALTA, April 12.—Admiral Farragut has arrived here on the flagship Franklin, accompanied by the ship Ticonderoga. The Admiral was received with all national honors, and marked attention and courtesy by the authorities and the inhabitants. He is to visit Lisbon.

The United States transport Guard is in this port.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

Corn 46s. 3d. per quarter for mixed Western; Produce—Turpentine dull and declined to 36s. Sugar active and unchanged.

BEWARE

Of that remorseless and insidious destroyer of the human race,

CONSUMPTION.

Check and conquer its advances, lest you fall the victim. When attacked with any of its preliminary symptoms, no matter how slight, be on your guard and promptly use the remedy ere too late.

DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP

Is an old, well tried, certain and standard remedy for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Difficulty of Breathing, Pain or Oppression in the Chest or Lungs, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs. Its sure and certain efficacy has been fully tested and endorsed for many years by numbers of well-known citizens in our midst, and their certificates are on record. Have you a cough which has gradually increased from a slight one to one of permanent standing? Lose no time, but procure a bottle of DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP, which will surely relieve you of the dangerous premonitory symptoms and effect a permanent cure. Do you spend miserable days and long sleepless nights of torture and pain from attacks of Asthma or Difficulty of Breathing? Dr. SARGENT'S Cough Syrup will act promptly, relieve you, and gradually restore you to your freedom of pain, and sound, pleasant sleep. Are your lungs sore and irritated, indicating inflammation? This is one of the most dangerous symptoms, and should be promptly removed. Dr. SARGENT'S Cough Syrup will heal the soreness, allay the inflammation, and restore the lungs to their prestine health and vigor. This Cough Syrup is pleasant and agreeable to take, while powerful and sure in its action. For sale by all Druggists in the country.

A MISERABLE SHAKER

Is the victim to Fever and Ague. This tedious and enervating disease is, unfortunately, too well known to need a description. It is strictly a malarious disease, caused by exhalations from the soil, especially from marshes, swamps and newly cleared lands encumbered with decomposing vegetable matter. The chills is one of the most troublesome of maladies, as the patient, though he may not be confined to his bed, is incapable of action. The experience of years has demonstrated the fact that HOSTETTER'S BITTERS is a sure means of fortifying the system against all atmospheric poison, breaking up the paroxysms and rapidly restoring the strength. Quinine, which has so long been the great remedy for chills, has been superceded by this powerful and harmless agent; while as a preventive it is unequalled, as its use will certainly exempt all who may live in unhealthy localities from the ravages of this disease. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is now among the most popular, and, at the same time, valuable specifics in the medical world. In recommending it to the public, we are fully conscious of doing them a great service, knowing, as we do, their many excellent qualities, and sure and speedy action in all cases where the disease is caused by irregularity of the digestive organs. As a tonic it is both mild and agreeable to the taste, and stimulating in its action upon the system.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to DR. KEYSER, 120 Penn street, Pittsburgh. After having tried various medicines from doctors, without any benefit, I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop. JOHN SCANLAN,

Coal Bluffs, Washington Co., Pa.

ANOTHER CURE.

A man called to-day at Dr. Keyser's office to inform him of a great cure made by his LUNG CURE, or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE. Ilst these cures are made with the Doctor's preparations, he desires it to be distinctly understood that most of his great cures are made in accordance with the established laws that govern the science of medicine, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years. Last week he was also in receipt of a letter from a clergyman in the State of Ohio, detailing another most wonderful cure.

Gold is steady but with material change, fluctuating between 138 and 138¾.

The local money market, although light enough in all conscience, is easing up a little, and the banks are again disposed to accommodate borrowers, especially those who are in good standing. The local stock market is quiet and devoid of any new features worthy of special notice. Columbia Oil stock is quoted at 10,50 to 11; Triumph is wanted at 1—none offering. Oil Basin is also wanted at 1, but there is none offering at that figure. This company has but recently declared a dividend of two per cent. Sales of People's Bank stock at 107¾; M. & M. is held at 65, and Bank of Pittsburgh at 64 to 65.

—From all parts of the country we have encouraging accounts of the grain crops. The seasons have been favorable to a second year of abundance. The very austerity of winter, though productive of much privation and suffering, has sheltered and nourished the plants, which promise to yield a plentiful harvest. In all parts of the West and South the winter crops are represented as looking remarkably healthy; and similar accounts reach us from England and the grain countries of Europe. Besides, as a natural consequence of the late high prices of breadstuffs, the farmers have generally placed an enlarged area under grain; and the ample profits derived from the last crop have enabled them to manure and otherwise till their lands to the best advantage. Thus far, also, the spring has been remarkably propitious to field operations, and there is a reasonable prospect that the spring planting will fare as well as that of the fall.

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, April 13, 1868.

CATTLE.

There was only a moderate supply of Cattle on sale to-day, although it was, nevertheless, fully up to the demand, which was restricted almost entirely to supplying the wants of the retail trade. The whole number on sale was about 600 head, all, or very nearly all, of which were from Chicago, and, so far as we could learn, all the Cattle on sale were in the hands of regular dealers. There appeared to be a larger number of good cattle than usual, a great proportion being made up of prime western steers, smooth and fat, and these of course, brought pretty stiff prices, 9 to 9½c. Consumers are growling, and, with good reason, too, at the exorbitant prices they have to pay for meat, but drovers and butchers growl still more; their profits are no greater now than when cattle were from two to three cents per pound lower; it takes about double as much capital to carry on the business, and money is so tight that it is very difficult to make collections, and a good many bad debts seem to be unavoidable. We quote the following sales:

Hedges & Taylor sold 20 head of common cows, heifers and oxen for Reinenan, at an average of 5c.

Stakely & Bro. retailed 15 head of Penna. cows and steers at 6 to 8c.

L. Rothchilds retailed 16 (Chicago) steers at 8¾ to 9,60.

Shamberg & Hartman 34 (Chicago) steers at 7 to 9½.

M. Verner 54 (Chicago) steers at 8 to 9.

McAllister & Co. 16 extra (Chicago) steers at 9¼ to 9½.

Haas & Kraus 36 (Chicago) steers at 8 to 9¼.

Marks & Traurman 76 (Chicago) steers at 8 to 9½.

Dolan & Co. wholesaled 15 head of extra (Chicago) steers to McAllister & Co. at 9⅛; retailed 17 head at 8 to 9.

Hazlewood & Blackstock 48 (Chicago) steers at 8 to 9¼.

Greenwald & Kahn 70 (Chicago) steers at 8½ to 9½.

Holmes, Lafferty & Glass 50 head, on commission, mostly common, did not get the prices.

Myers & Needy, we did not get their report; they probably had about 75 head.

SHEEP.

There was a moderate supply of Sheep on sale to-day, and as has been the case for some time past, while prime fat mutton Sheep sold without much difficulty at full prices, common and inferior were dull and neglected; we quote the former at 8 to 8½c, and the latter at 5 to 6c. One or two small bunches of Sheep sold at 11 to 11½c, but these were very fine, averaging 140 lbs, and cannot, therefore, be taken as a fair criterion of the market. But very few clipped Sheep offering, as yet, and the man who would rob Sheep of their wool this kind of weather ought to be prosecuted. We are quoted the following sales:

Jacob Rynn sold 18 head to Andy Ackley weighing 2760 lbs, from Washington Co.—the best lot of Sheep offered for some time, at 11½.

Stakely & Bro. sold 24 head of extra Sheep from Green Co. (Penna.) to Tesh & Bro., butchers, averaging 140 lbs, at 11; also, 85 head of very common to Billy Hines (who usually buys no other kind) at 5¼.

Rynn & Davis retailed about 200 head on commission, for H. Braden at 5½ to 8¼.

Garvin & Co. report having retailed 80 head of common to prime Butler Co. Sheep at 5 to 8¾.

J. Lobman reports having sold 108 head of common to medium Washington county Sheep at 5½ to 7.

McMillan & Kerr sold 50 head of fair to prime Washington Co. Sheep at 6 to 8¼.

HOGS.

The demand for Hogs continues rather light, and while the market is quiet, prices are firm and well sustained; we quote in a retail way at 10 to 11½c, gross, for good to prime heavy averages.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, April 13, 1868.

The general markets are moderately active and steady, and in many cases, prices are tending upward, though the demand mand is restricted mainly to supplying immediate wants.

APPLES—Quiet but steady and unchanged; regular sales in store at $3 to $6 per bbl, as to quality.

SEEDS—Cloverseed is quiet and unchanged; $7 to $7,50; Timothy at $2,75, and Flaxseed is scarce and in demand at $2,50 to $2,55.

BUTTER—Is scarce and firm, and choice Roll is higher, sales being reported to-day at 50 to 52c.

EGGS—Dull, with a supply considerably in excess of the demand, and there were plenty of sellers to-day at 20 to 21c.

GRAIN—Nothing done in Wheat—none in market; and the same is true of Barley. Oats firm and prices are well maintained; sale of 2 cars at 79c—small sales in store at 80 to 82c. Rye may be quoted at $1,75 to $1,80. Corn is in demand, and Ear sells readily on wharf at $1.

MILL FEED—Is in brisk demand but unchanged; sale on wharf of 20 tons of Bran at $1,80, and 10 tons of Middlings at $2,25.

HAY—Baled Hay is selling on wharf at $20 to $25, for common to strictly prime Timothy, and the demand is better.

POTATOES—Firm, and in demand with limited supply; we continue to quote Peach Blows at $3,50 to $3,75, and Buckeyes at $4,00 to $4,50. Jersey Sweets, $8.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm and still tending upward; 14c for Shoulders; 16c for Ribbed, and 18c for Clear Sides; 18¾ to 19c for Plain Sugar Cured Hams, and 19¾ to 20c for Canvassed do. Lard, 18c, in tierces, and 18½c, in kegs. Mess Pork, $27,50 to $28,00.

LARD OIL—In sympathy with Lard, has advanced to $1,15 for No. 2, and $1,40 for No. 1.

DRIED FRUIT—Is steady with a fair local demand at 7 to 8c for Apples, and 11 to 12c for Peaches.

BEANS—$4,50 to $5 per bush.

HOMINY—$6,25 to $6,50 per bbl.

ONIONS—$4,50 per bush.

FLOUR—Is firmer, and while there is a slight improvement in the demand, prices have undergone no quotable change; $10,50 to $10,75 for good Spring Wheat; $11 to $11,25 for choice do; $11,75 to $12,50 for Winter Wheat, and $15 to $16 for St. Louis fancy brands. Rye Flour, $9,25 to $9,50.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, April 13, 1868.

CRUDE—The Crude market is a little weak, under the influence of the resumption of navigation and anticipated increased receipts, but notwithstanding sellers are more numerous, as yet, there has been no quotable decline in prices. We can report a sale of 1000 bbls for April, seller's option, at 8¾, and 2500 bbls (40 to 47 gravity) to be delivered on first water, at 8½c. With the above exceptions, there are no new characteristics in the market worthy of special notice; we look, however, for more activity, now that navigation has been resumed, even if the market does not improve, as the handling of so much oil always occasions a livelier feeling, and causes the trade to present more cheerful appearance. An Oil City telegram says: "Market inactive; considerable inquiry—but few transactions. On creek, offering at $2,60 to $2,65; in boats at mouth and on cars here $2,90 to $2,95, and from tanks for barges, $3."

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was unusually active to-day, the reported sales being larger than during any preceeding day for some time past, though prices have undergone no quotable change. We have reported sales of 1000 bbls, on spot, at 25c; 500 each from August to December, at 28½c; 1000 for the last half any month between now and August, buyer's option at 28c; 500 from August to November, inclusive, at 28½c, and 2000 each for September and October, on private terms.

ARRIVALS—The following are the arrivals of oil:

Farm, Garden and Household.

Covering for Wheat.

During the past Winter, says the New York Tribune, the snow laid deeper and longer, and extended over a greater breadth of country, than had previously been the case for many years. Winters without snow are particularly trying on the wheat plant. In the intervals of freezing and thawing, the ground heaves and sinks, and, this being repeated, often day after day, the plant is either thrown out of the ground or separated from its roots, when it perishes. In the central part of the United States, which includes a region 100 miles north and south of a parallel crossing through the mouth of Chesapeake Bay, there has been comparatively little snow, and we have unfavorable accounts, many fields being reported killed; but it is not likely that this has application to other than old ground, which has become compact from loss of fertility and from shallow cultivation. On soils comparatively fresh, and on a clover lay, there is reasonable hope of abundant harvest; and as it is in this region that the greater part of the superior wheat of the country is grown, every fact relating to the prospect, whether present or prospective will receive attention. From this reference to the perils to which wheat is subject during the Winter season, nothing would seem more important than that a remedy should be provided. That, to a great extent, there is a remedy, is well known to intelligent cultivators. This is in having a heavy clover lay to be inverted as a seed bed for the wheat. By reason of the great depth to which the clover roots descend, and the imperfect decomposition of the foliage, the soil is made elastic and spongy, and it is admirably fitted, not only to withstand the intense action of frost, but to serve as a powerful barrier against its admission. In many respects a wheat field upon clover has all the characteristics of forest ground, from which only the trees have been removed. The clover roots correspond to the roots of the trees, giving drainage and aeration; and the clover foliage and stalks to the forest leaves, which are well known to be almost impenetrable to frost. Wheat grows with difficulty upon heavy clay; it delights in a soil with more or less admixture of gravel and sand, and with a fair supply of lime, and as the same is to be said of clover, the cultivation of both should go hand in hand. Nor need our farmers expect to succeed with wheat, or indeed to retain the fertility of the soil where wheat can be grown, except by sowing clover and using its attendant stimulent, plaster-of-paris. It is now in the very heart of that period when clover can be sown to best advantage, and whoever neglects to improve the opportunity of a last snow-fall to sow it either upon oats or wheat lets a golden opportunity shamefully pass away. Or, if one has neither of these crops, clover can be sown to great advantage by itself on fresh plowed and well harrowed ground.

Wool.

The market continues free from any excitement, and prices remain firm; there is no disposition to crowd sales on the part of buyers, and manufacturers do not appear anxious to purchase in anticipation of a short supply before the new clip. The general impression is that there may not be an abundance of wool at the time of the clip, but none appear to fear that machinery profitably employed in the production of goods will have to suspend operations for want of wool, consequently the cry of short wool does not alarm any one, nor cause buyers to rush upon the market. The result is, we are having a very quiet conservative trade—something very unusnal for the wool trade. The repeal of the tax on manufacturers' sales is having its legitimate effect, but as the woolen trade received the most exciting and stimulating influence during the war, people must not be surprised at its remaining longer depressed than any other branch of business and requiring more time to recuperate, yet we may expect that as one branch of business after another rallies that the woolen trade will follow in their wake, it may be with slow and tardy steps, but notwithstanding this it will come. Fine cassimeres are now selling well, and manufacturers of these goods are increasing their production, causing a better demand for fine wools, and stiffening prices to some extent; even extra fleeces are now more inquired for, in view of the light stocks on hand and keeps prices steady for this class of wool. Medium and coarse wools are so scarce that there deos not appear to be any care about them whatever; nobody is disposed to hold them for better days, and nobody seems disposed to pass them by expecting to do better, but those using these grades of wool take them at fair rates.

Super pulled wools are in very good demand, and bring full rates and quick sales. Extras are now in better demand, inasmuch as they are better grown, and come nearer the staple of the fleece than a month or two ago. But pullers are determined, to a great extent, to destroy the value of their best skins by pulling along with them a certain amount of the shorter grown, which seriously injures the sale of the whole, and diminishes the value; they think they make money by such a mixture, but in reality they are heavy losers. If they would take more pains in sorting and washing, we have no doubt they would find it greatly to their benefit. Buyers now scrutinize wool very closely, and there is no doubt now but the better conditioned any kind of wool is, the more readily it will sell and command the best prices. Medium wools, which yield any amount of delaine, are very scarce, and consequently delaine wools command relatively high prices, although the manufactured article is not selling either freely or at remunerative prices. Domestic combing is very scarce and commands full prices. Canada is also scarce, but the demand is quite up to a few weeks ago. California, Oregon and Texas are in good demand and sell readily at good prices.

Foreign wools move slowly, although there is sometimes a trade of this kind affected.

The advance in the price of wool in England, and the improvement there in the goods market, has not been without its effect on this market; on the whole, we may say that trade is generally reviving, but we do not anticipate any great rush in bnsiness in either wool or woolens this Spring, nor do we look for a great advance in prices, but we do hope that business will be a little more steady, not only from now to the clip, but afterwards. We think the time is coming when it will be easier to do business than it has been the past few years.

The sales for the week include 150,000 lb Fleece at prices ranging from 51@52c for X; 47@50c for Wisconsin and Michigan: 52@60c for good Ohio; 200 bales California at 27@34c; 30,000 lb Mexican at 22@22½c; 75,000 lb Pulled, 44@45½c; 25,000 lb Texas at 22@33c; 40,000 lb Combing on private terms; 5,000 lb Noils on private terms.—New York U. S. Economist, April 11.

Useful Hints.

POULTRY IN A SMALL ENCLOSURE.—You can keep a score of hens and rear chickens from them on 500 square yards. If it is not all grass you will have to supply them with green food. They must have green food and dust.

CAMPHOR ADMINISTERED TO CURE THE GAPES—The dose for a chicken five or six weeks old is a pill of camphor the size of a small garden pea. Where the camphor julep given them to drink is strong, they seldom require a pill. It is the odor of the camphor that kills the gape-worms; there is no real contact with it, which is impossible, because the parasites are in the windpipes.

HEN'S EATING EACH OTHER'S FEATHERS.—Spanish fowls are more prone than any to eat each other's feathers, and, like most bad habits, it finds many imitators. There is no doubt it arises, in the first place from the lack of some necessary food—something they require at this season of the year. Those that have no access to grass always do it. We believe if they are supplied with a grass run they always discontinue the habit. A good supply of lettuce cures them, and those that are gone to seed are best for the purpose. If you cannot give your fowls a grass run, let them have large sods of growing grass, cut with plenty of mould, thrown into their pens daily, and supply them with lettuce freely.

CHICKEN FEED.—We know of nothing better for young chickens and turkeys than hard-boiled eggs chopped fine, and fed with cracked corn and wheat. The first few weeks is the most critical time with them, and they need animal food in some form, especially in the early spring, before grubs and insects are plenty. We have fed raw liver, chopped fine, with advantage. A change of food is desirable. Wheat or barley steeped in milk, toasted bread crumbs and hominy, are excellent. They should be fed as often as five times a day, until they are a month old, and should have access to clean water at all times.

PULLETS.—A pullet hatched early in the spring begins to lay at the approach of winter, and pullets hatched late in the summer begin to lay in the ensuing spring, and it is by saving a certain proportion of pullets from the early and late broods that you make sure of winter eggs, a few early hatched chickens for catching the highest markets, and a numerous flock of chickens in the warm months, when a rearing is least precarious. The hen continues in her prime for two, and, at most, three years; therefore, save every year pullets equal to a third of your brood stock, selling off at a trifling price the same number of aged hens, or offering them up in a stewed dish, or well baked pie. However, I have no scruple about keeping a heavy, symmetrically-made, splendidly-feathered "partlet" for four years for the sake of her stock. Many farmers grumble about their poultry, from not paying attention to such a simple matter as their not looking over their brood stock once a year, drafting all the old dames (known by the developed scales on their legs), and reserving from the market basket the most promising young pullets raised during the season.

ORCHARD CATERPILLAR.—In those parts of the country where the orchard or tent caterpillar existed last summer, it will be well for owners to examine their trees before the opening of spring, for the bands of eggs which extend around the small twigs. Each band or nest contains several hundred eggs, and if left undisturbed, will result in a large swarm of caterpillars. The easiest way to get rid of them is to place a pair of pruning shears on the end of a pole, and selecting a day when there is either a clear blue sky or a covering of dark clouds, (bright clouds will be too severe for the eyes,) pass around and clip off the eggs. A quick eye will readily detect the rings on any part of the tree by the swollen appearance which they give to the shoots. When one tree is cleared pick up the fallen twigs, and place them in a basket for burning. If there is a small crust of snow on the earth they may be more readily seen and gathered up. This is the most easy and rapid way of getting rid of this caterpillar, as a single clip of the shears prevents the hatching of a whole nest. If any are accidentally omitted they may be destroyed after hatching, by the use of the swab. In the absence of pruning shears, the blade of a knife may be inserted, like a hook, in the end of a pole, and if made as sharp as a razor, will cut off the twigs by a single jerk.—Country Gentleman.

The Teeth of a Horse.

At five years of age a horse has forty teeth—twenty molar or jaw teeth, twelve incisor front teeth, between the molars and incisors; but usually wanting in the mare.

At birth only the two nippers or middle incisors appear.

At a year old the incisors are all visible on the first or milk set.

Before three years, the permanent nippers have come through.

At four years old the permanent dividers next to the nippers are cut.

At five the mouth is perfect, the second set of teeth having been completed.

At six, the hollow under the nipper called the mark, has disappeared from the nippers, and diminished in the dividers.

At seven the mark has disappeared from the dividers, and the next teeth or corners, are level, though showing the mark.

At eight, the mark has gone from the corners, and the horse is said to be aged. After this time, indeed, good authorities say that after five years, the age of the horse can only be conjectured. But the teeth gradually change their form, the incisors becoming round, oval and triangular. Dealers sometimes bishop the teeth of old horses; that is, scoop them out to imitate the mark; but this can be known by the absence of the white edge of the enamel which always surrounds the real mark, by the shape of the teeth, and other marks of age about the animal.—Rural Gentleman.

A Curious Story.

The New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer is responsible for the following curious story:

Every one knows of Elias Howe, the famous sewing machine man, who died at Bridgeport, Connecticut, a few months ago, and who was supposed to be worth at least four or five millions. He had long enjoyed a monopoly of his lucrative trade, and had a patent that brought him one dollar for every sewing machine made in the United States. When his estate was settled his executors declared that it was not worth more than $600,000, at which his heirs raised a huge outcery, charging the executors with fraud of the most gigantic character. Legal examination was made, and the figures proved (instead of larger than had been stated) to be represented by zero, a number of debts having been discovered that were before unknown. This is the story in the vicinity of Bridgeport, and the heirs of Elias Howe, who had expected to be made rich by legacies, are doomed to dreadful disappointment.

What became of all Howe's money is a question no one seems able to answer. Some say he paid so much to the Washington lobby that he was beggared; others that he lived too extravagantly to save anything, and others again that he gambled and bought lottery tickets for many years previous to his demise. It is not probable that any of these allegations is true, and consequently the mystery is deeper than ever. The wooden nutmeg State is in a sore quandary about Howe's fortune; and it is singular indeed, that a man whose annual income must have been $400,000 to $500,000, should be found insolvent at his death.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Daring Burglary—$550 Taken from a Room in Which Four Persons Were Sleeping—Five Trunks Broken Open.

A most daring burglary was perpetrated in Allegheny city on Sunday morning, which, if not the work of a "professional," is a wonderfully mysterious affair. The scene of the burglary was the bed chamber of a Mr. Johnson, who resides at Lacock and West Canal streets, and which was occupied at the time by himself, wife, daughter and a hired girl. The robbery was discovered by Mrs. Johnson, who, it appears, was wakened about two o'clock Sunday morning by the falling of a window sash. As soon as she awoke she discovered the contents of five trunks, which were scattered promiscuously over the floor, and being apprehensive that thieves were still in the house, she aroused her husband, who immediatrly got up and on examination found that the trunks had been unlocked and the contents lay in grand confusion all about the room. One of the trunks contained $540, which had been carefully rolled up in a sheet and deposited in the bottom, which, along with $20 in a pocket book in the pocket of Mrs. Johnson's dress, was taken. The thieves, it is thought, entered the house through a window from the roof of a back building, as the doors both in the front and rear were securely locked and bolted, and it is evident they retreated by the roof of the back building, as the sheet in which the money had been wrapped was found just outside the window on the roof. The keys to the trunks were in the same pocket with the pocket book when Mrs. J. retired, but they were found next morning in the hall just outside the room door. From the appearance of things in the room it was apparent that the thieves had some knowledge of the premises, and had been very deliberate in their operations. It is supposed that chloroform was used, as both Mr. and Mrs. J. state that they detected a peculiar smell in the room when they first wakened, and the daughter and hired girl sleeping in the same apartment, were almost suffocated when they were wakened. The room occupied by Mr. J. and his wife was on the second floor, the door of which was locked when they retired. The other rooms on the same floor were occupied by borders, but the doors were secured by bolts on the inside, and the thieves failed to gain access. None of the boardere were aware of the robbery until Sunday morning. The money stolen was the savings of several years, and its loss will fall heavily upon Mr. Johnston.

Another Highway Robbery.

Highway robberies have become alarmingly frequent in our city within the past month, and unless some very stringent measures are adopted to prevent their occurrence and secure the safety of the citizens, it will soon be unsafe for a man to pass through many portions of the city alone. There appears to be a regularly organized band of dastardly cut-throat robbers infecting the city, who commit their depredations with impunity. Inoffensive men are knocked down and robbed of whatever of value they chance to have about them while passing from work to their homes at all hours of the night, yet the police are unable to obtain any information as to who the murderous villians are. No less than three men were robbed in this way one day last week, two of which have already been reported in the city papers. The third was James Moore, engineer on the tow boat Alps, who was passing from the boat up First street to his residence on Friday night about eight o'clock, and when near "Chancery Lane" he was assaulted by three men who came up behind him. One of them dealt him a blow with a slungshot above the right eye, which stunned him, but did not knock him down. He turned round facing the villians, when he received another blow more effective than the former, as it rendered him insensible. He lay there for some thime, but finally recovered, when he discovered that his pocketbook containing five dollars, a silver watch and his hat had been taken. He has not the slightest idea who the villians were, as he had not time to see their faces before he received the blow which deprived him of consciousness for the time. What can be done to prevent these murderous attacks?

Called to a New Field.

Rev. Simon Greenleaf Fuller, pastor of St. Peters Episcopal Church, on Grant street, has received and accepted a call from Birmingham, Connecticut. Mr. Fuller has had charge of the St. Peters congregation for some three years, during which time he has made many warm friends, and has rendered almost universal satisfaction to his charge. His departure to a new field will be deeply regretted by his numerous friends, both in and out of the church. He has been a faithful laborer in his Master's cause, and has rendered valuable service to the church and the cause of christianity generally in this vicinity. During his connection with St. Peters congregation over one hundred members have been added to it by confirmation, which is evidence of his zeal and efficiency. The congregation will also be deprived of one of its most efficient and effective lady-workers, in the person of Mrs. Fuller, the estimable wife of the pastor. She was always in the front-rank of every project calculated to inure to the benefit of the church, and especially in the ladies' benevolent societies, where her absence will be painfully felt by the ladies of the congregation. Notwithstanding the many regrets at their departure, Mr. and Mrs. F. will take with them the best wishes of the entire community for their future welfare.

Boots and Shoes at Bargains.

Several days ago we noticed the fact that a special private sale of well made and desirable boots, shoes, gaiters and slippers, of all the latest styles and fashions, had been commenced at the auction salesrooms of Smithson, Vanhook & McClelland, Nos. 55 and 57 Fifth street, and to-day we announce its continuance until the entire stock is sold. It is hardly necessary to state that the goods are good and that the original cost of production has not been regarded in the prices at which offered, as this house is proverbial for reasonableness in this as well as other leading specialties. We advise our readers to call in, look at the stock and determine themselves the superior advantages afforded for cheap bargains. Dealers who buy to sell again, as well as retail purchasers, can rely on getting decidedly more than the worth of their money invested in boots, shoes and gaiters at this establishment.

The Tack-O'Connor Case comes up today in the Philadelphia Court of Quarter Sessions. About one hundred witnesses, principally oil dealers, left this city yesterday, to appear and give testimony in this important issue. We have made arrangements for publishing the entire proceedings, commencing on Thursday morning, and promise our readers a fair and impartial history of the case as it progresses, and a phonetic report of the evidence educed on both sides and the more important speeches of the counsel.

Personal.—Major George H. Leet, Adjutant General on General Grant's staff, arrived in the city yesterday on a visit to his friends in Allegheny. The Major, although quite a young man, is an efficient officer, and his abilities we are informed are highly appreciated by General Grant as well as by his fellow officers.

THE COURTS.

United States District Court—Judge McCandless.

In the bankruptcy branch petitions for final discharge were filed by Newton A. Lane, Montrose, Susquehanna county, and Abraham Newkirk, Warren county.

Final discharges were granted and certificates awarded to John Montgomery, Jefferson county; James B. Case, Columbia county; Erastus Hendershot, Columbia county; Daniel Donah, Altoona, Blair county; John Hamilton, Blair county.

In the common law branch, District Attorney Carnahan filed a libel against a distillery and appurtenances, together with some distilled liquors, belonging to Jacob Snyder and Valentine Henkle. The property was found in Wellersburg, Somerset county, and was seized by the Collector of the Sixteenth Collection District, it being alleged that the owners had been engaged in the illicit distillation of liquor. A monition was issued and made returnable on the 30th of the present month.

District Court—Judge Hampton.

On the opening of the Court the case of the City of Allegheny vs. William Dilworth was taken up. Action to recover $416 62 assessed upon three lots, owned by defendant and located on Rebecca street, Allegheny, for the construction of the city sewer on Belmont street. The defendant refused to pay the assessment, and claimed that the city owed him five hundred and fifty dollars for constructing a sewer on Ferry Lane, by contract, which sum he put in as a set off to the claim of the city. Jury out.

The next case taken up was that of Maria Greiner vs. Richard Perry and Ann Perry his wife, action on a book account. Verdict for plaintiff for $174 83.

Following is the trial list for this day:

No. 123. John Barry vs. John Carroll.
127. Buffam, Kehew & Co. vs. J. Rosenbach.
129. George E. Hogg vs. R. C. Howard.
131. Schalser vs. Barney Garber.
132. Charles Sill vs. J. Williams.
133. Hugh Wallace vs. Hugh Sproul.
134. Geo. D. McGreen vs. Wm. Clayton.
136. P. M. Cushing vs. Thomas Barrett.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Mellon.

The following business was transacted yesterday:

Benjamin Saunders and H. W. Edwards, both colored, and aged about thirteen years, were placed on trial for the larceny of money from the money drawer in the store of W. H. & J. T. McConnell, in East Liberty. It appeared from the evidence that the boys visited the store on the 12th of last month. Saunders came in first and asked to be shown some neckties, and while he was engaged in examining the ties Edwards came in and passed back to the rear of the store. About half an hour after they left the proprietors discovered that some fifty dollars had been taken from the money drawer. The next morning one of the proprietors saw Edwards on the street, and the latter endeavored to get out of the way. He pursued and captured him. He found a pocketbook in one of his boots containing twenty-two dollars in money. Edwards stated that he had given a portion of the money to Saunders. The latter was subsequently arrested, and over twenty dollars were found in his possession. The jury found a verdict of guilty, and the boys were committed to the House of Refuge.

Benjamin Page was placed on trial on an indictment charging him with assault and battery with intent to commit a rape upon Mrs. Eleanor W. Link. The prosecutrix resides in Birmingham. One evening about two weeks ago, at a late hour, Mrs. L. was awakened by a noise in her room. As her husband was away from home, she was considerably alarmed, and on looking up saw defendant preparing to get into bed. Her screams attracted some persons on the street and Page was arrested in the room. He plead nolle contendere, and stated to the Court that he had been drinking during that day, and remembered nothing about the affair. Judge Mellon ordered him to be remanded until Saturday next, when the matter of punishment would be considered by a full bench.

Martha Thompson was indicted for malicious mischief, on oath of John Daly. The parties are joint occupants of a tenement in Sterrett's row, on Hemlock street, Third ward, Allegheny. The defendant occupied a room above that of the prosecutor, and it was alleged that she was in the habit of emptying dirty water out of her window into Daly's cellar, by which bread, butter and flour were destroyed. It was also charged that the Thompsons pounded on the floor above, causing the plastering from the ceiling in Daly's room to fall. Verdict not guilty, each party to pay one-half the costs.

Louis Davis was arraigned upon an indictment charging him with the larceny of an order on the City Treasury, drawn in favor of John Coole, for $14.85. The indictment alleged both the stealing of the paper upon which the order was written, valued at ten cents, and the amount for which the order called—$14,85—which the defendant lifted by signing the name of the prosecutor, Mr. Coole. It appeared that Davis worked for Coole, and took the above described method to obtain a little balance that he claimed was due by his employer. The jury had not returned a verdict at the time of adjournment.

Henry Hall was placed on trial on a charge of stealing three pairs of boots, of the value of ten dollars each pair, the property of E. S. Geary, shoemaker, of East Liberty. Mr. Geary was called to the stand, and testified that on the night of the 23d of last March his shop was broken into and three or four pairs of boots stolen therefrom. A pair of boots which had been found in possession of the prisoner were shown to witness and were positively identified by him as one of the pairs stolen from his shop on the night in question.

Robert M. Painter was placed on trial for assault and battery. His wife was the prosecuting witness. She testified that the accused had assaulted and beaten her frequently during the past year, and on the 16th of last March he had beaten her more violently than ever before, striking her in the face, inflicting severe injuries. The jury found Painter guilty, and the Court sentenced him to pay a fine of $1 and the costs of prosecution. In default of payment he was committed to jail.

Wm. Williams, a baker residing in East Liberty, testified that he was on his way to the city early in the morning succeeding the night of the robbery, and that he overtook the prisoner. He was on foot and stated to witness that he came from Philadelphia; that he got off the cars at Greensburg, on the previous evening, in mistake for Pittsburgh. Had on a pair of new boots, which he said hurt his feet, he having walked all the way from Greensburg. It had been raining all the night, but witness noticed that the prisoner's garments were not wet, a fact which indicated that his story in regard to walking from Greensburg was false. In addition to the new boots on his feet he carried a small bundle under his arm. On trial.

Common Pleas—Judge Sterrett.

In the case of Jacobs vs. the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company, previously reported, the jury returned a verdict for the defendant.

Wm. Thomas vs. J. J. Garrett, administrator of Wm. Thomas, Sr., deceased, was the first case taken up. Action to recover money loaned by plaintiff to his father during his lifetime. Verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $1,173.

Robert Thompson vs. John Snyder. Action on a promissory note. Verdict for plaintiff for $349,38, amount of note and interest.

Wm. Smith vs. David Steen. Verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $39,75.

Robert Shields vs. James Kelley. Feigned issue as to the validity of a judgment for $6,150, confessed by Joseph B. Huff to James Kelley, on March 19, 1866. Plaintiff took a non-suit.

F. Kauffield, for himself as well as for the county of Allegheny, vs. Wm. Hill. Action to recover the penalty of fifty dollars for peddling without license. Verdict for the plaintiff.

M. B. Hartzell vs. Wm. Hill. Same action as in above case. Verdict for plaintiff.

The following is the trial list for to-day:

No. 28. F. Kauffield vs. G. W. Gibson.
31. John Banner vs. Val. Stier.
37. Lorenz Hoffman vs. Chas. Seibert's Adams.
39. John Rahe vs. C. H. Haven.
40. A. V. R. R. Co., vs. Washington Brinton.
41. Samuel McPherson vs. G. Steicel.

51. Reese, Graff & Dull vs. Theo. Noble, et al.
52. Port Pitt Coal Co. vs. Shaffer & Co.

Dry Goods and Notions at Wholesale and Where to Purchase to Advantage.

Messrs. Arbuthnot, Shannon & Co., the proprietors of the well known, old established and popular wholesale dry goods house, No. 115 Wood street, have long presented very superior attractions in the way of advantageous prices, large and excellent selection and variety of stock, and have succeeded in building up a trade fully equal to that of any leading mercantile house engaged in that line of business. They but recently received a very large invoice of general dry goods, trimmings and notions, which embraces everything that is suitable to the seasons of spring and summer. These goods were purchased for cash during the temporary panic which lately swept over the Eastern cities, and can be disposed of to the patrons of this house at much cheaper prices than those which now rule in New York, Boston and Philadelphia. This may appear strange to those not thoroughly posted on the irregularities and consequent depression in prices, which marked the early opening of the importers and manufacturers' spring trade, but to experienced buyers presents no anomaly or perplexing problem. Those merchants, and they were few in number, who were fortunate enough to make their purchases during the conservatism in business, secured immense advantages which cannot possibly be again obtained during the present season. After the markets strengthened, the losses sustained in sacrificing goods to meet pressing obligations, made imperative by a disordered condition of affairs, had to be made good by largely advanced prices, and late buyers were the sufferers. Messrs. Arbuthnot, Shannon & Co, propose to share their advantages with their patrons, and as we have remarked, are now selling goods lower than they can be purchased in the eastern markets. The home dealers will readily discover wherein they will be benefitted by conferring to this representative firm a full share of patronage, as they can buy cheaper and save the incidental expenses and freight incurred by bestowing orders or making purchasing visits to the East, and will obtain as admirable a choice and selection. Any of our readers visiting the city to lay in their fresh supplies, or who are replenishing their stoks by order, should keep in view this old and high standing business house, and become satisfied through buying experience that it is largely to their interest to confine their patronage at home.

The Lock-Up Last Night.

Although the number of guests at the "tombs" last night was not so large as on some former occasions, some of the cases were of more than usual interest. There were but seven of the cells occupied at twelve o'clock. No. 1 was empty. No. 2 was occupied by some poor unfortunate wretch, who had been picked up out of the gutter on Fifth street in a beastly state of intoxication, about ten o'clock, and was still insensible from the effects of the accursed stuff he had been drinking. No. 3 contained a respectable looking man from Peebles township, apparently about forty-five years of age, and quite intelligent. On being asked for what he was arrested, he said that he was a farmer, owned a small farm in Peebles township, and had come to the city yesterday morning with marketing. After disposing of his produce he met a friend who insisted upon his drinking with him. They went together to a saloon and took several drinks, after which his recollection was very indistinct, until about eleven o'clock, when he awoke from a heavy sleep and found himself caged. He said it was the first time he ever "played checkers with his nose," and he guessed it would be the last. Nos. 4 and 5 each contained a victim, who had been brought in beastly drunk but a few moments before twelve. No. 6 was tenanted by a lively, honest-faced Scotchman, who had been unfortunate either in the size or number of drinks taken during the day. It was the first time he had ever been caged, and if he keeps his promise he will not soon be caught again. Some poor, miserable specimen of humanity, who had been picked up as a vagrant, occupied No. 7, and a well-dressed, genteel looking young man, who it appears was arrested on suspicion of having had a hand in some of the recent robberies, tenanted No. 8. The only grounds of suspicion, we learn, is the fact that he has been loafing about the city for several months with no visible means of support. The victims will all be brought before the Mayor this morning.

Larceny by Bailee.—Mary Kelly made information yesterday before Alderman McMasters, charging Edward Kelly with larceny by bailee. Mrs. Kelly is the widow of George Kelly, who was a slate roofer. Since his death Mrs. K. has carried on the business in connection with her brother-in-law, the defendant. Some time since a contract was made between the Kelleys and the proprietors of the Banner Cotton Mills for a job of roofing, which amounted to $335,50. The work was done and Edward collected the money, and refuses to give Mrs. K. her share. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

A Princely Present.—Messrs. Reineman, Meyran, & Siedle have on exhibition in one of their beautiful show windows of their new and magnificent house, No. 42 Fifth street, a princely gift in the way of a massive gold cross and chain, and a heavy gold ring, set with a large precious stone, all to be presented by his friends to the zealous and accomplished Father Mullen, of Allegheny city, recently appointed by the Pope as Bishop of Erie. The exquisite workmanship of these articles bears new evidence to the high character sustained by this well known jewelry house.

Election of Vestrymen.—The congregation of Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church yesterday held a meeting and unanimously elected the following vestrymen to serve the ensuing year: Josiah King, James M. Cooper, Thomas M. Howe, H. L. Mason, H. G. Hale, Stephen Jarvis, W. P. Marshall, Thomas S. Blair, John H. Shoenberger, Calvin Adams, W. T. Robb, H. L. Ringwalt, Hon. Wilson McCandless, Major S. R. Ross.

Larceny of a Coat.—David Aiken yesterday made information before the Mayor charging Grace Lee alias Bill Lummux, with the larceny of a coat. It appears that the defendant, who is a colored boy, walked into Mr. Aiken's office on Liberty street and took the coat, which was hanging on a hook. He was arrested with the coat in his possession, and after a hearing committed to jail for trial.

False Pretence.—Wm. Thomas was committed to jail yesterday by Mayor Blackmore, on a charge of false pretence, on oath of John Longerfelsier. W. W. Anderson also made information against Thomas, charging him with obtaining money under false pretence. A commitment was lodged against him.

Improvements—The Proper Course Adopted.

The old saying that "Time levels all things," is about to be verified in some of our city improvements. In the Gazette of Friday we referred to the proposed change of grade on Clymer street, so as to run the water from Penn street to the river, and suggested that the proper method of accomplishing that object would be to raise the grade of Penn street, where it had been lowered some four years since, to a proper heighth, instead of lowering Mulbery alley, which is situated between Penn and the river, at a grade of thirteen inches higher than the former. It now appears that our views regarding the matter were correct, as the Water Committee visited the locality referred to on Saturday, relative to extending the water main to Lawrenceville, and decided to raise the grade on Penn street from Clymer to Taylor streets four feet and eight inches before laying the pipe. It is the intention to lay a twenty inch water main on Penn from Clymer street to St. Mary's avenue, which will connect with the twelve inch main on Liberty and an eight inch pipe on Smallman street, from which small pipes will be extended on several of the principal streets in Lawrenceville. This will probably interfere with some few property holders on Penn street, as the distance the grade will have to be raised comprises two squares, on which several fine buildings have been erected since the street was cut down, but the committee take a very common sense view of the matter, as they say the grade will have to be raised eventually and the sooner it is done the less property will be injured by it. The matter will be brought before Council to-day, as a special meeting has been called by the Water Committee for that purpose.

Death of Mrs. Stockton.

Another of the few remaining links which connect the present with the early history of these cities has passed away. Mrs. Esther Stockton, relect of the late Rev. Joseph Stockton, died yesterday morning at her residence on Stockton avenue, having just entered upon her eighty-seventh year. This good old lady, until within a week of her death, had enjoyed a long life almost without a day's sickness, retaining in much vigor her senses of sight, hearing and memory. Her last sickness proceeded from a cold contracted in nursing a sick son, her maternal solicitude prompting her to exertions and exposure unsuited to the natural infirmities of her advanced years. For her the impending change had no terrors; her gentle and pious life was the preparation for a peaceful and submissive death; with her the transition is from a world of sorrow and gloom, to a paradise of endless joy. Among her survivors there is no one around whom so many pleasant and grateful memories cluster; no one more loved or venerated; not her many descendants and their connections alone, but all her cotemporaries, and especially all the older citizens of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, and of the country around, will mourn the death of this aged matron as of one whose life of purity and innocence had won their affections, and will extend their heart-felt sympathies to the stricken and bereaved members of her family.

A New York Merchant Manufacturing Shoe Blacking.

Several weeks since, a man calling himself J. G. Oliver, came to the city and put up at the Eagle Hotel, representing, as the proprietor of that establishment alleges, that he was a New York wholesale dry goods merchant, and had come to the city for the purpose of selling goods. Under these representations he was furnished accommodations at the Eagle, where it appears he remained several weeks, at the end of which time Mr. Robert Steel, the proprietor of the Eagle Hotel, thought it time that his board bill, which amounted to $45 should be paid. The New York merchant was not prepared to settle the bill at that time, but promised to do so the next day. The next day came, but the New York merchant did not. The landlord was not to be cheated out of the amount of his bill in that manner, however, and instituted search for his delinquent boarder. He was tracked to a "sky parlor" at the corner of Virgin Alley and Liberty street, where he was engaged in the manufacture of shoe blacking. Mr. Steel made information before Alderman McMasters, charging Oliver with obtaining board under false pretence. He was arrested and after a hearing committed to jail in default of the required bail, for his appearance at Court.

Messrs. Duff & Co.,

The well known and fashionable tailors, No. 34 Federal street, Allegheny City, announce that they have just received a large and well selected stock of cloths, cassimeres and vestings, suitable for spring wear, which they are prepared to make up in the latest, most fashionable and durable styles at most reasonable prices. This firm have long enjoyed a high reputation as fashionable merchant tailors, and monopolize to themselves a fair share of public patronage. They have also received a splendid assortment of gents' furnishing goods, which embraces all the latest and most fashionable styles. Give them a call for anything in their line.

Taken to Lancaster.—Officer Fisher, of Lancaster, Pa., arrived in this city yesterday morning, in search of W. P. Wensel, who it appears is charged with seduction. Fisher made his business known at the Mayor's office, when the warrant for Wensel's arrest was placed in the hands of officer Irwin, who succeeded in capturing him about ten o'clock a. m. on the corner of St. Clair and Penn streets. He was immediately turned over to Fisher, who took him in charge and left with him on the eleven o'clock train yesterday morning for Lancaster.

Accommodating.—The night train on the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad will leave the depot at eleven o'clock, instead of half-past ten as heretofore, in order to accommodate persons residing along the line of the road who desire to attend the Opera House during Edwin Forest's engagement. The accommodating spirit is characteristic of the officers of the Connellsville Railroad Company, and it will doubtless be fully appreciated by those whom it is intended to benefit.

Yesterday was a beautiful day, and the streets were thronged with ladies out shopping, most of whom found their way to the dry goods store of Bates & Bell, where there has just been opened a fresh invoice of general housekeeping goods, dress goods of all varieties and styles, cloaks, sacques and general dry goods. The firm are selling at what may be correctly called popular prices, and are drawing a full share of patronage.

Carpets.—Now as the season for putting down new carpets is at hand, it may be regarded as a timely suggestion on our part to advise housekeepers, to call in at the mamouth auction house salesrooms of Smithson, Vanhook & McClelland, and examine the fine assortment of ingrain, superingrain, rag, hemp and stair carpets, which are offered at private sale at very cheap prices.

Taken to the House of Refuge.—Henry Edwards and Ben. Sanders, colored boys, who were recently convicted of robbing a till in a dry goods store in Lawrenceville, were taken to the House of Refuge yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Stubbs, in compliance with the sentence of the Court.

City Councils.—A special meeting of the City Councils will be held at two o'clock P. M. to-day. The meeting is called by the Water Committee for the purpose of bringing the matter of extending the water main to Lawrenceville before Councils.

Every Disease has its Remedy.

Upon this broad fact is founded the whole art and science of medicine.

That every disease has its curable stage under proper treatment, there can be no doubt.

That they have their incurable stage, under any treatment, may be equally true.

The curable period is during the early part of the disease, of course. The incurable being the advanced condition—the last stage.

To know the precise nature, extent and locality of the disease is of the first importance in the treatment of any case.

This is precisely the reason given by Dr. Oldshue, of Pittsburgh, for bringing into requisition the Microscope, Test-tube, Urinometer, and all the Chemical apparatus for the scientific examination of the urine in all chronic and complicated cases.

The long afflicted have not been slow to appreciate these scientific aids, and the consequence is, his office is one continued throng of patients from all parts of the country, seeking the advantages of this skill in diagnosis.

A knowledge of the appropriate remedy, however, is quite important, as without the remedy no advantage would be gained by knowing the disease.

Every disease has its remedy. This is verified in the fact that different medicines spend their action upon different parts of the human system.

As each particular disease spends its principal baneful action upon a certain organ or tissue of the body according to its peculiar nature, so each particular remedy spends its medicinal action upon a certain organ or tissue according to its medicinal qualities.

Having a knowledge of the true nature of the case, as also of the appropriate remedy, the next matter of importance is its proper preparation and application.

This should be carefully attended to, and as far as practicable all medicines should be examined by the physician, before being put into the hands of the patient or nurse.

This is done in the office of Dr. Oldshue before mentioned.

All his medicines are compounded and his prescriptions filled by his own special direction, and under his own supervision.

No medicines are passed from his prescriptions but through his hands.

This great care and caution in prescriptions, together with the very scientific mode of his examinations has no doubt contributed much to his great success in practice.

Hundreds of apparently the very worst cases, including all kinds of chronic affections, female diseases, weaknesses, &c., have found permanent relief at his hands and at very moderate cost.

A Splendid Farm for Sale.

Mr. G. H. Tower, the well known and responsible real estate agent, No. 164 Fourth street, advertises on our 5th page to-day several very valuable and attractive farms, which will merit the attention of those wishing to invest their money in a safe and profitable manner. The principal one, however, which will be sold as a whole, or in lots of one acre or more, to to suit purchasers, is a river bottom farm of 76 acres, 19 miles from the city, in Elizabeth township, this county, on the Youghiogheny river, one-half mile from Elrod's Station, on the Connellsville railroad. It is near churches, schools, stores, &c., in the flourishing villages of Boston and Green Oak. The improvements are a two-story brick house of six rooms, hall and cellar, a good frame barn with stabling underneath, and other outbuildings; a well of good standing water at the door, and several standing springs of water on the farm, and an orchard of 700 trees of selected fruits of apples, cherries, pears, peaches, quinces and grapes. This property being located near the line of the railroad, within one hour's ride of the city, makes it very desirable for gardening or a dairy farm; it is also a good and beautiful location for country homes near the city, lying immediately on the river, on the opposite side from the railroad. The West Newton Accommodation and other trains on the railroad afford certain and frequent opportunities of daily communication to and from this city. We know of no better opportunity for investment than this and those interested should call on Mr. Tower for further information.

ALLEGHENY, April 13th, 1868.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I beg leave to acknowledge through your columns the advantages to be derived from insurance and the importance of holding policies issued by good sound home companies. You are doubtless aware that I was unfortunate enough to lose my bark house, containing a large amount of tan bark, at the fire which happened a few days since in the Eighth ward, Allegheny, formerly Duquesne Borough. But fortunately I had the good luck to have a polioy in the Ben. Franklin Insurance Company of Allegheny, and notwithstanding the company reserved the right to settle in sixty days, as soon as the loss was properly adjusted the Secretary gave me a check for the money. I therefore take pleasure in acknowledging this prompt settlement of my loss, and would recommend the Ben. Franklin Insurance Company of Allegheny to all persons who may desire to insure in a prompt and reliable company.

Yours, very respectfully,
A. HOLSTEIN.
